WATERLOO SHOW TO BE IN JUNE OF '71

The National Dairy Cattle Congress and Waterloo Meat Animal Show will be held from June 15-20 in 1971. This date change from the usual late September dates is made necessary by the construction of a Flood Control Dike along the Cedar River by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers which is slated to commence July 1, 1971. The dike will go through our parking area and by September our fairgrounds could be in quite a mess. We hope that this project will not be an example of "hurry up and wait," as some of us became acquainted with while serving in the army—at any rate all we can do is make the best of what is scheduled to occur and that is the reason for the date change in 1971.

We are pleased and grateful for the splendid cooperation we receive each year from the draft horse exhibitors and the wonderful folks who came here to see the horses show. Our Draft Horse Show for 1970 was one that all hands could be very proud of. Bill Hughes, our draft horse judge, stated that this was the greatest show of Belgian horses he had ever judged, and the other breeds were well represented also.

Many of you have closed the show season here in recent years; we hope that spring work is such in '71 that you can start your next season here.

MORE MAIL BAG

From L. C. Spitler, 2036 Shurley Road, Eldorado, Ohio 45321:

"Many horsemen find it hard to get the old fashioned axel grease to use on wood wheel wagons, buggies, carts, etc. My local hardware store has it, however, and they tell me it is in considerable demand. It is manufactured by Riley Bros. Inc., Burlington, Iowa. I thought this information might be of service to your readers."

WHAT'S THAT KID DOING WITH A SHEEP IN A HORSE MAGAZINE?

The lamb was the 1st prize Oxford wether at the 1970 Iowa State Fair. The boy is Jeff, our oldest son, who just went into 4-H this year. While Jeff was showing sheep, our oldest daughter, Melanie, was carrying a saddle horse project in 4-H.

Right now we have 4 Percherons, 3 Saddle horses, and 18 Oxfords in "winter quarters" here in the DCC horse barns and are busy on most weekends with hayrides. Like a lot of the rest of you, spring 1971 will mean the excitement of new colts and lambs at our house. We think animals, the breed and species are unimportant, are wonderful allies in the job of rearing children—even here in the middle of town. Maybe, especially here in the middle of town.

A Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to all of you from all 32 of us. (We also have a dog).

Harvest time finds Jiggs Kinney, Columbus Junction, Iowa, getting his corn crop out with the help of dependable Belgian horse power. Jiggs depends on his Belgians for all the work on his farm—and those mares manage to raise quite a few foals too, whilst getting the work done.

The photo is one we secured from Rex Conn, former Farm Editor for the Cedar Rapids Gazette, in conjunction with an article on Jiggs and Virginia he wrote for us a few years ago.

THE CLYDESDALE STUD AT THE DOMINION EXPERIMENTAL FARM, AGASSIZ, B.C.

by W. Harold Hicks, Suite 10 Central Manor, Chilliwack, B. C.

The Foundation Mares

For historical purposes it must be stated that Clydesdale breeding at the Agassiz Experimental Farm started in 1914 with the purchase of two 3 yr. old fillies. This was a mediocre pair and were later discarded. A third mare, Melita, a big imported roan, was purchased at the Colony Farm Reduction Sale in 1918. Bred to Pride of Drumburle (Imp.) she produced a filly foal, Melita Pride, that won the Great Britain and Ireland Silver Medal at the New Westminster Provincial Exhibition in 1923. She was later sold and Melita died in 1925, thus ending the breeding of these early mares.

The real foundation was laid in 1919 with the purchase of a young pair of full sisters by Scotland's Pride (Imp.) from Lawrence Bros., Unity, Sask. Named Hartland's Madge 36027 and Madge of Billfield 38950, they were foaled in 1916 and 17. We called them Madge and Bell, the former a great brood mare and the latter a great mare in harness.

Madge was the great granddam, through two different granddaughters, of both the grand champions at the 1939 Golden Gate World's Fair in San Francisco. In 1953 Phyliss, a fifth generation daughter of Madge was grand champion at Toronto's Royal Winter Fair and her daughter, Impression, was junior champion at the P.N.E. in Vancouver. Thus, for six generations, Madge produced real champions all along the line.

To complete the supply of foundation mares two 2 yr. old daughters of Baron of Arcola (Imp.) were purchased from Doune Lodge Stock Farms, Arcola, Sask. in 1920. Named Doune Lodge Bell Heather 43611 and Doune Lodge Diana 43610, both lived to a good age. Heather was a daughter of a great show and breeding mare, Countess of Moray (Imp.) and was herself a great show and breeding mare, living to be 23 years old. She was not a large mare but for beautiful flinty bone, intelligence, and straight springy action, she was tops.

Topline Favorite, Reserve Grand stallion at the 1924 Vancouver Winter Fair as a 2 yr. old. A son of Diana, he was later gelded and worked in harness with his dam for years.

Diana was a great work horse but was not a prolific brood mare. She raised one good colt, however, which after winning the 2 year-old stallion class at Vancouver was gelded and mated with his dam. They made a fine pair of farm workers for many years.

Countess of Moray, this daughter of Bonnie Buchlyvie was the dam of Doune Lodge Bell Heather.

The Stallions Used

For some time after the purchase of these mares some difficulty was experienced in locating suitable sires. Horse breeding had slowed down somewhat in the 20's and with a stud of only four mares it seemed unwise to purchase a stallion. The result being that up to 1934 a conglomerate lot of males were used, some good and some very ordinary.

Following is a list of the sires used from 1920-1934 in the order of their use:

It was not until late in 1934, when Radiance 25908 was secured from the Experimental Farm at Indian Head, where he had been bred, that a reasonably satisfactory breeding program commenced.

Radiance was a big drafty roan, a good mover, and an excellent breeding horse.

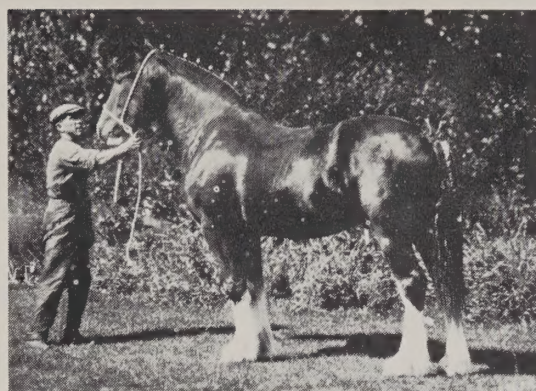

While in stud duty at Agassiz, Radiance sired both grand champions at the Golden Gate in '39, as well as the winning Get of Sire. At the Vancouver Winter Fair the same year, Radiance was the grand champion stallion and sired the winning get.

His sire, Forest Favourite (Imp.) 23627 must occupy a place of high honor among the great sires of western Canada. A roan, with plenty of white markings, he was foaled in 1920. He was grand champion at Chicago in 1926.

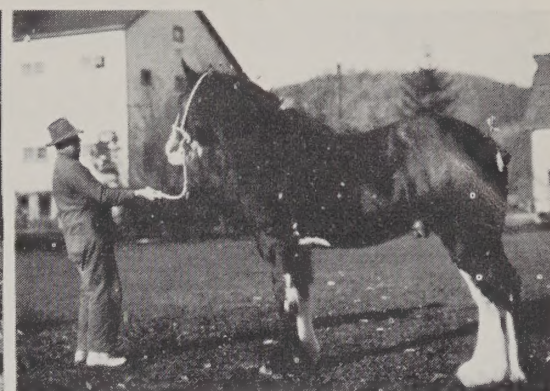

Two of his most famous sons were Radiance and Caradoc Footprint, both were developed in Saskatchewan, Radiance later coming to us and Caradoc Footprint going to Hector Black of Belle Plaine. These two stallions made wonderful competitors at the big shows of the period, taking turns at beating each other.

was 2nd as a yearling, 1st and junior champion as a 2 yr-old, 2nd as a mature horse and in 1935, a get of sire by him was 2nd in a very strong class. Caradoc Footprint was 1st prize yearling at the Royal in 1930 and stood next to Radiance in 1932, and had many wins at western shows to his credit.

So much for the sire of Radiance. His dam was Lady Price 51343, by Dunure Norman. She was also a roan, a beautiful mare with grand feet and legs and true Clydesdale action. She was junior champion at Chicago and Toronto in 1926.

In 1939, Dunmore Fine Art (Imp.), 28874, a son of Cragston Mount Royal and out of Grange Queen, arrived at Agassiz. This horse was one of a group of stallions imported by the Canadian government for the purpose of improving our Canadian Clydes. As an individual to inspect he was a real disappointment. He needed all his size, was too short and straight in his pasterns, course in the hocks, short of rib and an ordinary mover. He had a very intelligent looking head, was a hardy horse and a sure breeder. Jet black in color, he passed this characteristic on to a high percentage of his offspring and in spite of this many shortcomings he turned out to be an excellent successor to Radiance.

He mated especially well with the mares from the foundation lines of Hartland's Madge and Doune Lodge Bell Heather. In 1950 two-thirds of the horses at Agassiz were exhibited at the P.N.E. This is the only time we showed a 4-horse and 6-horse hitch and won them both, with four other outfits competing. Art was the sire of these horses. The largest number of horses ever on hand at Agassiz was 33 head.

Lacombe Winalot, 30000, bred at the Lacombe Experimental Farm, succeeded Art at Agassiz. He won the Western Shield at the P.N.E. in 1947, 48, and in 1952 was sold to a rancher in the Cariboo country of B. C.

He sired some good colts, especially from the Phylliss line. Pontiac 30167, was one of the best and was the last Clyde stallion used at the Indian Head Experimental Farm. Phylliss 62464

This great mare, foaled April 28, 1942, sired by Dunmore Fine Art and out of Queen of the May, 56448, stands at the head of the line as the most outstanding Clydesdale bred, owned, or exhibited by the Agassiz stud.

Not only did she and her offspring win heavily at the P. N. E. but in April of 1953 she was sold to Mr. Shaw of Carbury, Manitoba, and she went on to grand champion honors at the Canadian Royal that year.

She was a prolific breeder as well as a great show mare and even took her place in the six-horse hitch the only time the farm showed in that class. She was such a dark brown that she could fit in with five blacks.

Her son, Historian 30050, was grand champion stallion, a daughter, Impression, 64297, was junior champion mare, and another daughter Expression, 63974, was reserve junior champion mare at the P.N.E. in 1951.

Doune Lodge Bell Heather

The attached six-generation photo pretty well tells the story of the breeding power of "Madge", but what about the other great foundation mare, Doune Lodge Bell Heather? She was sired by a son of Baron's Pride and out of a daughter of Bonnie Buchlyvie—two of the greatest names in Clydesdale history. A full sister, Doune Lodge White Heather, made an enviable show record in western Canada.

Bell Heather produced 13 foals and raised 10 of them. She was herself reserve champion at New Westminster as a 2yr-old in 1920, 1st brood mare at Portland in 1922 with her first foal, reserve champion as a brood mare at New Westminster in 1926, reserve champion as a yeld mare at Vancouver in 1930, and grand champion at the Vancouver Winter Fair of 1931. was unbeatable in the brood mare class until quite old.

Her outstanding daughter was Heather Bell, 52400, foaled in 1926. In this instance a son of the foundation mare, Madge, named Topline Buchlyvie was mated to the foundation mare, Heather, to produce Heather Bell.

Heather Bell was an excellent tempered good working black mare with good underpinning and action but she could be criticized for lack of size. In 1927 she won 1st at the Vancouver Winter Fair and the following year was named grand champion at the provincial Exhibition in New Westminster, winning the Canadian Clydesdale Assoc. Gold Medal and Clydesdale Horse Society of Great Britain and Ireland Silver Medal. In 1930 she again won the Canadian Medal and championship at the Vancouver Winter Fair.

Pontiac, son of Dunmore Fine Art and Phyliss. This royally bred horse was stationed at the Indian Head Experimental Farm from 1953 to '57, the last Clyde stud at this station.

Doone Lodge Bell Heather and Heather Bell were better producers of sons than daughters. This was especially true when they were mated with Dunmore Fine Art.

In conclusion, I would recall the three high spots of almost 40 years of Clydesdale breeding at Agassiz, as follows:

1. The great showing at the Golden Gate World's Fair in San Francisco in 1939 where 10 horses won both junior championships, both grand championships, 18 firsts, 6 seconds, 2 thirds, and 3 fifths. These winnings included both junior and open get of sire, progeny of dam, and grand display.
2. The showing at the P.N.E. in 1950 where we showed a four and six-horse hitch for the only time winning both against good competition. All were black, except Phyliss, and all were sired by Dunmore Fine Art.

3. In 1953 it was decided to yield to the times and mechanize the farming operation. This is when Phyliss was sold into Manitoba to go on to be grand champion at the Royal Winter Fair.

The trouble with good advice is that it interferes with our plans.

HOW TO HARNESS A HORSE

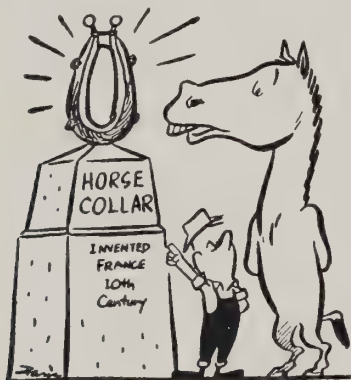

(Reprinted by permission from Feb. 10, 1961 issue of Hoard's Dairyman. Copyright 1961 by W. D. Hoard & Sons Company, Ft. Atkinson, Wisconsin) by Ben Brown

It has been said we've bred a whole new generation of farmers who don't even know how to harness a horse. Surely this is an appalling situation. Should you be so unenlightened, presented here may be your last opportunity to learn!

Harness Humor

At least one historian has noted that the invention of the horse collar . . . along with the divine profusion of water, light, and air . . . stands as one of those apparently insignificant things we take for granted without which we would surely perish.

Simple in design, humble, the importance of the horse collar is matched only by its modesty, for only after its relatively recent development (France, 10th century thereabouts) was man able to put to the task of food production and transportation a force significantly greater than his own back. (Ox lovers . . . peace! your're strong but s-l-o-w!)

Certainly the Romans, and the Greeks, and the Assyrians, and the Babylonians, and the Egyptians, and the ancestors of Abraham in the Land of Ur had horses but their horses, unshod, carried, or pulled . . . not pushed . . . their loads and never was there such waste of motive effort.

Horses in those days were tied (or awkwardly yoked), not harnessed to their work. How much weight can a horse put on a choking breast strap, or a rope around the neck or saddle horn, or, worse still, a simple line from the load to the animal's tail?

Men had horses for thousands of years, but until they learned how to collar them, they failed to reap the full power at their command and nearly starved in the process.

Once the collar had found its place, however, horsepower really started to mean something. With two good-collared horses, a man could plow enough ground, plant enough seed, cultivate enough crops, and harvest and haul enough foodstuffs to feed himself and his family all winter . . . and have some left over for his friends in town. (This started a movement. Today, practically everybody lives in town!)

Having established the importance of the collar, it seems most logical to start with this item in our harnessing procedure, and so we must.

There are collars and collars, of course, and it is most important to start with the right collar. If it is too large, the horse will push himself through it and become sweeneyed. (There is undoubtedly a more accurate veterinary term to describe this situation, but you don't have to know how to spell sweeney to know how bad it is. A sweeneyed horse, suffice it to say, is soon fox meat.)

If the collar is too small, the horse will be short of wind. He can breathe all right standing still, but when he's working breathing isn't enough. He needs wind, which he can't get through a too-small collar. But, we are getting ahead of ourselves.

For the sake of expediency, we must assume you have the right collar, have the horse in his stall properly haltered, and the harness already hanging where it belongs.

Step-by step . . . one first enters the barn, speaks nicely to the horse while approaching from the left rear. Do not approach abruptly and silently from directly behind. This may upset the horse, who will not view the harnessing procedure cheerfully under the best of circumstances and is probably just looking for an excuse to boot you out of the barn.

Entering the stall on the left side of the horse, brush him down a little, and push him over to his right with a mighty heave. He'll probably heave right back on you but there is a cure for this, which we'll come to in a moment.

Now, some horses require a collar pad (a big, quilted thing which goes over the horse's neck). This complicates things somewhat. It can only be placed on the horse in one logical way, however, and is often omitted, so we'll spend no more time on this item.

Assuming the collar pad is not involved, one then finds the proper collar and proceeds to a most important step. With a dull knife, gently scrape the accumulated sweat, salt, dirt, and so forth off the collar where it touches the horse. This will prevent sores in the shoulder region, which is important, because a small sore on a shoulder can put a large horse out of business for a long time.

You may have gathered, by this time, that horses are rather delicate creatures, and this is true. As a matter of fact, proper harnessing is governed not only by the design needed to utilize the horse's strength to best advantage, but also by procedures which keep him from killing himself while he works. And you cannot rely upon the horse to look out for his own body. In truth, it would appear that self-destruction is instinctive in a working horse.

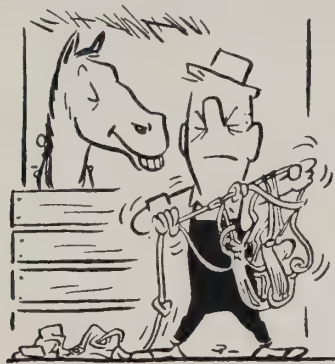

Unbuckle the collar (collars are stored buckled to prevent breaking away in the wrong places). Do not attempt to put the horse's head through the collar like a noose. It won't work. Open the top of the collar and put the collar on from under the horse's neck, rebuckling at the top. The large end of the collar is at the bottom while the small end of the collar is at the top.

While you are reaching up doing this, the horse will, without doubt, attempt to step on your foot. Do not simply stand there and yell. Brace your hips against the wall pushing the horse onto his far foot while you kick his instep with your free foot. Chances are he'll relax enough so you can tear free.

Go back and pick up the harness. There is a trick to this, regardless of whether you're left-handed or not. The harness is hung on two pegs. To the right is hung that portion of the harness which crosses the animal's rump. This varies with harnesses, but is usually a good big piece of leather to which are attached (when not in use) the tugs, the hangers for the breeching strap (pronounced "britchin"), in addition to straps emanating from this point all over the horse.

Put this piece on your right shoulder. This leaves both hands free to grasp the hames. You will recognize these because there is hardly anything else to grasp.

Thus burdened, get in beside the horse again, placing the hame in your right hand over the horse and down along the collar on the right side, bringing the hame in your left hand tight against the collar on the left side.

Then heave the rest of the harness over the horse's back, transferring the load from your right shoulder to its proper place on the horse's rump.

If the harness was put away properly, it will fall naturally into place around and over the horse. If the harness was put away in a mess, you might just as well quit because nobody could tell you in one lesson how to straighten all of it out.

This business is not easy because, while you were over picking up the harness, the horse has shook his head and maneuvered the collar you fixed so nicely up on his neck to a point just behind his ears. You can shove the collar back where it belongs, however, without letting loose of the hames.

Fasten the hames under the collar, making certain they're positioned properly in their grooves. On most hames there is a sort of clip at the bottom, giving you leverage. The hames have to be extremely tight or they will pull off the collar and injure the horse once and for all.

There is a large strap which passes under the horse's neck, fore and aft. Reach down and pass this between his front legs and up under his belly. Grope around under the horse until you find the end of the belly strap which goes under the horse's middle and under the strap coming back from the hames. Snap or buckle this belly strap to the other end of this strap on your side of the horse.

While you are down under the horse finding these straps, he will lean over. When you try to stand up, you will find there is no room left for you in the stall between the horse and the wall. To fix this, get a piece of broomstick about two feet long and hold one end against the wall when you stoop over.

When the horse leans heavily against the other end of this stick he will nicker and quiver a little, and voluntarily get back over where he belongs so you can go on with your work.

There are two more straps . . . leading generally from the ends of the breeching on either side. Grope around until you find these and snap them into the ring on the big fore and aft strap held up by the belly strap.

When these steps have been completed, you will notice the horse's tail is under the breeching and he looks very uncomfortable. Pull out the breeching and lift his tail out, taking care to duck quickly to one side when the horse gratefully, whips his tail in your face.

With some minor adjustments and shifting around, your horse is now essentially harnessed.

Go and get the bridle.

Do not unhalter the horse to put on the bridle or he will gleefully leave the barn, harness and all, leaving no forwarding address.

Get the bit all set to insert, put your right thumb in the horse's mouth, high enough up along his cheek to avoid his greedy incisors, open his mouth, and place the bit on top of his tongue. This is important. If the bit is under his tongue, he will commit suicide.

Then work the rest of the bridle up under the halter nose strap and over the horse's head, putting the chin strap under the halter at all points, and buckle same.

Then, and only then, may the halter be removed.

Back out the horse and lead him outside where the lines, neatly coiled on the left hame, can be laced through their proper rings and attached to the bit.

Your horse is now harnessed and you've passed the test but, of course, in most instances you would harness more than one horse to get anything done. In such a case, you have two horses to lead out of the barn and only need to know a couple of tricks to hitch them up to your cultivator.

One trick helps solve an age-old problem which is created when two horses, accustomed to working side by side, leave the barn with the wrong horse on the wrong side.

You can remedy this, not by asking one horse to stand still while you lead the other one all the way around him. (which doesn't work), but simply by holding both horses tightly by their bit rings, raising their heads, and walking briskly down between them, turning them neatly inside out as it were. This is a maneuver no horse has yet been able to figure out and it works admirably.

Once your team is properly rigged, get behind them and drive them up to your machine from the side, encouraging one horse to step over, not on, the tongue, and knuckling them into position with a minimum of backing and filling.

Always fasten the neck yoke FIRST, thus lifting the tongue and avoiding the unpleasantness of a runaway with the tongue bobbing along on the ground. Hook up the tugs to the singletrees, experimenting until you discover which link is right but always using the same number of links on each side of each horse. Trees should be as close as possible and still just clear the horse's hocks in full stride. Then, hang your water jug on the nearest hame, mount to the seat, and away!

ANOTHER REMINISCENCE OF AN AMERICAN CREAM

by Wm. J. Fritz

Sprucewood, Churchville, New York 14428
(Editors Note: Mr. Fritz has been secretary-treasurer of the New York State Milking Short-horn Association and expends considerable time and effort in the interest of that breed of cattle. He admits, however, that between classes at the shows he can usually be found at the Draft Horse Barn. There are no drafters at Sprucewood at the present time, but Mr. Fritz says that may not always be the case and adds, "the great desire to have a team again surges within me.")

The highly interesting story on American Cream Draft Horses appearing on page 13 of the Nov. 19-69 Draft Horse Journal brings back nostalgic memory of my own experience with a beautiful specimen of this breed. Perhaps your readers would like to re-live the story with me.

It began in 1935, during the great depression days. We moved here to old Sprucewood Farm that year and the surrounding farms and countryside at that time heard little of the roar of tractors and trucks. The clank of tug chains, the squeak of leather and plow wheels and the horses blowing their noses were about the only noises and they weren't loud enough to drown out the caw of the crow, the call of the bluebird, or the whistle of the woodchuck. Ah, those halycon days.

Today, the constant hum of the New York Thruway, the incessant roar of jets overhead and the sight and sound of farm machinery, building and road work machines, trucks, cars and sno-mobiles going in all directions and the great concentrations of business buildings and crowded houses makes one sometimes wonder why mankind chose all this to the quiet and solitude of yesteryear. The crows and woodchucks are few hereabouts these days, and the beautiful bluebird is gone from these parts—probably forever.

At any rate, in the thirties we needed and wanted good work horses and we had them. Once in awhile we would lose a good horse either from old age or by accident and we'd set out to find a good replacement. This is what happened to us. We had lost a good mare and Dad needed another, so we went to look over a few horses owned by a fine old gentleman named Myron Redfern of Churchville, N. Y. This was in the spring of 1937.

Mr. Redfern owned two stallions, a Belgian and a Percheron, and made a business of breeding mares for farmers. He had a runabout buggy and on Tuesdays he'd hitch up and make the rounds with the Belgian to the surrounding farms and he'd repeat the trip on Fridays with the Percheron. But if you had a preference, he'd come on call anytime with your choice.

We knew this man very well and he told us he had purchased this "cream colored" mare in Iowa a month before and he wanted to sell her, so we brought her home to try her out. She proved to be a truly wonderful mare and we purchased her for $150. She was one of the best horses we ever had on this farm. I would say she was about 10 years old when we got her. Although all the rest of our horses were larger, she worked right along with the best of them all the while we had her.

We always referred to her as the "cream-colored mare" and named her "Chubby" as she was quite fat when we got her. She never really got thin. I didn't know at the time that she was an American Cream. In fact, I had never heard of the breed at that time. We kept her and worked her anywhere and anyplace. She plowed in the furrow or on the sod and she was careful of her step when she cultivated—a grand mare to live with. We bred her to Mr. Redfern's Belgian stud the following year and she had a real light colored stud colt which my Dad had gelded and later sold. We never bred the mare again as I recall. Tractors were beginning to come in and take over in our area and it wasn't as easy to sell horses. She lived here and worked hard and well until 1948 when it became necessary for us to have her destroyed due to her arthritis. I remember it just about broke my heart to have to do this. I was 30 years old at the time, as much of a man as I'd ever be, but I cried like a kid. It was sheer tragedy to me. We buried her in the soft sand at the end of the farm, by the woods, and I still get a lump in my throat when I look at the spot and think of dear old "Chubby."

My Dad passed on shortly after this, and so did old Mr. Redfern, but before they died they had a visit here in the yard one evening and I vividly recall the conversation turning to the "old cream-colored mare." It was then I learned that she was a member of a distinct breed and I asked Mr. Redfern who he bought her from originally. He told me he couldn't remember the man's name but that it was out at the Ardmore Stock Farm, in Iowa, and that she was a purebred American Cream mare. So he must have purchased her from Mr. C. T. Rier-son as he owned the farm in Rad-cliffe at that time. She looked exactly like the mare with the foal in the center photo accompanying the article.

The story in the Journal begins by asking the question, "How many of you remember the American Cream Draft Horse?" Well, I for one can remember "Chubby" and it seems a shameful thing to me if the breed is now extinct, if any or all of them were as good and wonderful as she was. It is almost unbelievable to me to think that anyone who knew anything about the breed and had them could care so little as to let them slip away. Is it really true? Are there none at all? Isn't there even one stud and one mare left? Doesn't anyone care at all? I would like very much to correspond with someone who does, if they will only write to me here at Sprucewood.

The Days Before Yesterday

(From the files of Breeders Gazette, Kemper Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.)

75 YEARS ÁGO — AUTUMN 1895

The draft horse trade was dull, though looking up a bit, and the shows were light. With little horse news from the period we are going to use this space to show you what two commercial ads looked like in 1895.

First, however, a beef note. For anyone who thinks of the Simmental as a "new" breed to this continent, you might be interested in knowing that Mountain Side Farm, Mahwah, New Jersey had made an importation of 14 of these cattle 75 years ago and was busy extolling their merits.

50 YEARS ÁGO — AUTUMN 1920

It was an interesting show season, though pretty spotty. Horse breeding was down and this, combined with a severe shortage of railroad cars for shipping horses, kept numbers light at most of the shows.

Illinois led off the parade of state fairs with a good solid show of Percherons, followed by 100 Shires, a somewhat smaller Clyde show, and a handful of Belgians. In the Percheron show both grand championships went to Spring Brook Farm, Walkersville, Md. on Milord and Turquoise — both International champions. The progeny of Carnot was much in evidence with two sons of the old horse, Carvictor and Wolfington winning the 4 yr. old and 2 yr. old classes respectively.

Another eastern stud, Longwood

Farms, Center Harbor, New Hampshire won heavily in the Clydes, dividing top honors with G. W. Merna, Wyoming, Ill. Duke, the grand champion Belgian stallion, shown by Wm. C. Baurer was a black horse—somewhat of a rarity in that breed. The Shires staged a very good show made up mostly of farmer breeders from Illinois. The offspring of Boro Blusterer won the lion's share of awards.

Iowa featured a very well balanced show in all four breeds. In the Percherons Singmaster from Keota brought Lagos out of retirement and he beat Milord for grand champion. Lagos was then 9 years old. The Belgian show was a battle royal with Charley Irvine having both grand champions, but he was hard pressed all the way by Lefebures from Fairfax, C. E. Jones from Livermore, J. C. Ritchie from Stratford, C. G. Good from Ogden, W. C. Estes from Packwood, and Dr. Hamilton from Paullina, Iowa was a real hotbed of Belgian enthusiasm, Longwood gave the Iowans a run for the money in the Clyde section, which was a big show.

Ohio was a two breed show, presenting 165 Percherons and 94 Belgians. Laet, who made his debut at this show the year previous came back in 4 yr. old form to win his class for W. H. Butler's Woodside Farm but lost the grand championship to a 2 yr. old named Dreballegan, a 2 yr. old son of Dragon and LaBelle. Dreballegan was shown by E. Nicodemus, Waynesboro, Pa. Both of these great stallions were bred by E. B. White of Virginia.

Speaking of LaBelle, that grand old white matron was on hand and won her class at 17 years of age. The Gazette described her as follows: "She is 17 yrs. old, as level-topped as a table, and stands on bone and joints that are Clydesdale like in quality. Her broody countenance, her even, full body lines, the set of her legs, and her businesslike way at a walk and trot made her a winner indeed—one of the truly great mares of the breed." We'll try to have a photo of this "Queen of the Perche" for you in a coming issue.

Three Hoosiers; Ervin Snider, New Paris, Harry Stamp, Roachdale, and Karl Ulmer, North Manchester managed to make a long day out of it for the Buckeye Belgian breeders. Snider won both grand championships on a pair of roans, John deBois and Mate.

Indiana rounded out the four great traditional shows in the corn-belt. Geo. Dix from Ohio took both grands in the Percherons with Jehovah and Dixie Anna in a stout show. It was the Belgians, however, who were the talk of the fairgrounds and some great breeding horses were in the winner's circle. Snider's John deBois repeated his Ohio win, Camille stood 2nd to him in the aged stallion class, Stamp's Marquis de Hemel won the 3 yr. olds, and George Henry won the 2 yr. old class. All these horses made their mark at stud in Indiana. Three Hoosiers fought it out in Clydesdales with Otha Wyrick, Kempton getting the best of it.

The shows at the other state fairs were much lighter; Clydes were again the dominant breed at Wisconsin; Lonzo McClain & Sons, Lima, Ohio won most of it in a small Percheron show at Michigan and Owosso Sugar Co., Alicia, Mich. did the same in Belgians. New York featured reasonably good competition in Belgians, Percherons, and Suffolks. The show at Nebraska was almost entirely a Percheron affair dominated by stables from western Iowa; McMillan from Rock Rapids, Babcock & Martin, Merville, and Frank Keenan from Shenandoah. A fellow named Gottlieb Eberspacher from Seward did have the grand champion Belgian stallion at Lincoln. And this year, 50 years later, Elmer Eberspacher from Seward did the same thing.

Along those same lines, E. A. Jones, Bangor, Wis. showed Clydes at the Wis., Minn., and South Dakota State Fairs. And this year, Floyd-his son, won the Busch award at Waterloo, and Floyd's son Dan was champion halter showman.

The Percheron show at Minnesota was a good one with Dunham's from Illinois and Hurdcroft Farms, Monticello, Minn. winning most of it. 37 Clydes represented the Scotch breed at St. Paul while only 9 Belgians and a similar number of Shires showed up.

The last big show, preliminary to the International, was the Belgian show at Waterloo which was way off the pace of the previous year. The car shortage keeping almost half the horses entered at home.

With most of the out of state exhibitors stranded by the railroads it was somewhat of a repeat of Des Moines. Chas. Irvine won both grands and both reserves. His old horse, Alfred deBree Eyck, beat his blue roan Des Moines champion, Rowdy. Salome, a Farceur daughter won the purple for him in the mares, followed by an Alfred daughter named Irvinedale Favette.

25 YEARS AGO — AUTUMN 1945

The war was scarcely over so very few fairs were held. Missouri held one though and turned out 75 head of mules. The Gazette reported that "the mules have gone to a ritzy chestnut on us." Of the hybrids at Sedalia, 69 were sorrels and the other 6 were grays. The top pair sold for $850 during the fair. There were 26 teams in the pulling contest at Missouri as well as shows of Belgians and Percherons. Bert James, Paris, Mo. had the grand champion Belgian mare on Lady de Malmaison. Prof. Kays from Ohio State gave her the purple with the comment that she was a better mover than 50% of the walk trot Saddle horses.

There was a picture of Walt Hoe-wischer, Urbana, Ohio with Jay's Successor, his grand champion Belgian stallion at the American Belgian Show held at Painesville, O. The show brought out 38 exhibitors from 4 states. Folks were anxious to get to showing again.

Sam Guard, editor of the Gazette, was urging the five breeds to combine their forces into one office and promote the equine motor.

CEDAR SIDE FARM

Home of the Sorrel Percherons

Harrington Rex and Ginger Laet

Our 1970 winnings on this pair include Grand Champion stallion and mare and 2nd pair at the Freeborn County Fair, Albert Lea; Grand Champion mare and reserve Champion stallion at the Meeker County Fair, Litchfield; Grand Champion stallion and mare and 1st single cart and Farmer's Team at both the Martin County Fair in Fairmont & LeSeuer County Fair at Le Center.

At the Minnesota State Fair both were 2nd in class, Ginger was Reserve Senior Champion mare, and they won the farmer's team class with 17 entries.

Our farm has been sold and we are moving north of Seattle in the state of Washington with this team—our last pair of sorrel Percherons.

We regret leaving this area but look forward to our new home in the northwest.

Our 1st prize team of geldings and our 2nd prize six horse hitch at the 1970 National Clydesdale Show in Waterloo

We are offering for sale a 5 year old black roan gelding. He is broke for farm work (we seeded oats with him) and would make a hitch horse. The reason he is for sale is that he has too much white to fit into our hitch, but he is a good young horse.

SEASON'S GREETINGS FROM HOBBY ACRES

At present we have 18 registered Percherons, all gray but three

Koncar Lou, our Canadian bred 3 year old herd sire. Grand Champion at Waterloo 1970, Reserve Grand at Toronto 1969. Phil Callahan on the lead strap.

This fine young stallion is being mated to a choice band of mares here at Hobby Acres, including some promising young daughters of Charley, our former herd sire—now in California. We will be selling a big 3 year old Belgian gelding and a well mated span of 4 and 5 year old bay Belgian mares in our fall sale. We will also have 5 registered Percherons in the sale.

WE ALSO HAVE MORGANS

Here is Bob Meyers riding Sonny Boy our Morgan stallion into 1st place in the Morgan Western Pleasure at the recent Waterloo Show. Bob is a Waverly boy who really does a good job with our saddle horses. This horse bred 18 mares this year. We drive him single and double and show him both English and Western.

THANK YOU

I wish to take this way to thank every one who surprised me at the National Show, by presenting me with a trophy and cash, for showing horses for 50 years. It doesn't seem to me like it has been very long, and I think I am good for 50 more years, as I am only half worn out.

We are furnishing a game room, which has been added to our house, and the money will be used for something in that room, so come see us and we will have a game of something.

Thanks again for giving me a gift for something I have enjoyed and glad I am still at it.

THE WAVERLY HORSE AUCTION

OUR BIG FALL SALE WILL BE HELD ON NOVEMBER 19 & 21

Thursday, Nov. 19th—Draft Horses and Mules.

Saturday, Nov. 21st—Light Horses and Ponies.

We have decided to leave a day in between the heavy and light horse sales. This will expedite the movement of both the light horses out and the heavy horses in.

HORSES WILL SELL STARTING AT 11 A. M. ON BOTH DAYS

A limited amount of tack will be sold on both forenoons with the balance on the 20th—the day in between.

We expect over 200 heavy horses and mules, including several registered horses of all three breeds as well as the usual run of pulling prospects, hitch geldings and farm teams—lots of promising colts and several good mules.

THREE OF THE TOP HITCHES AT PLATTVILLE

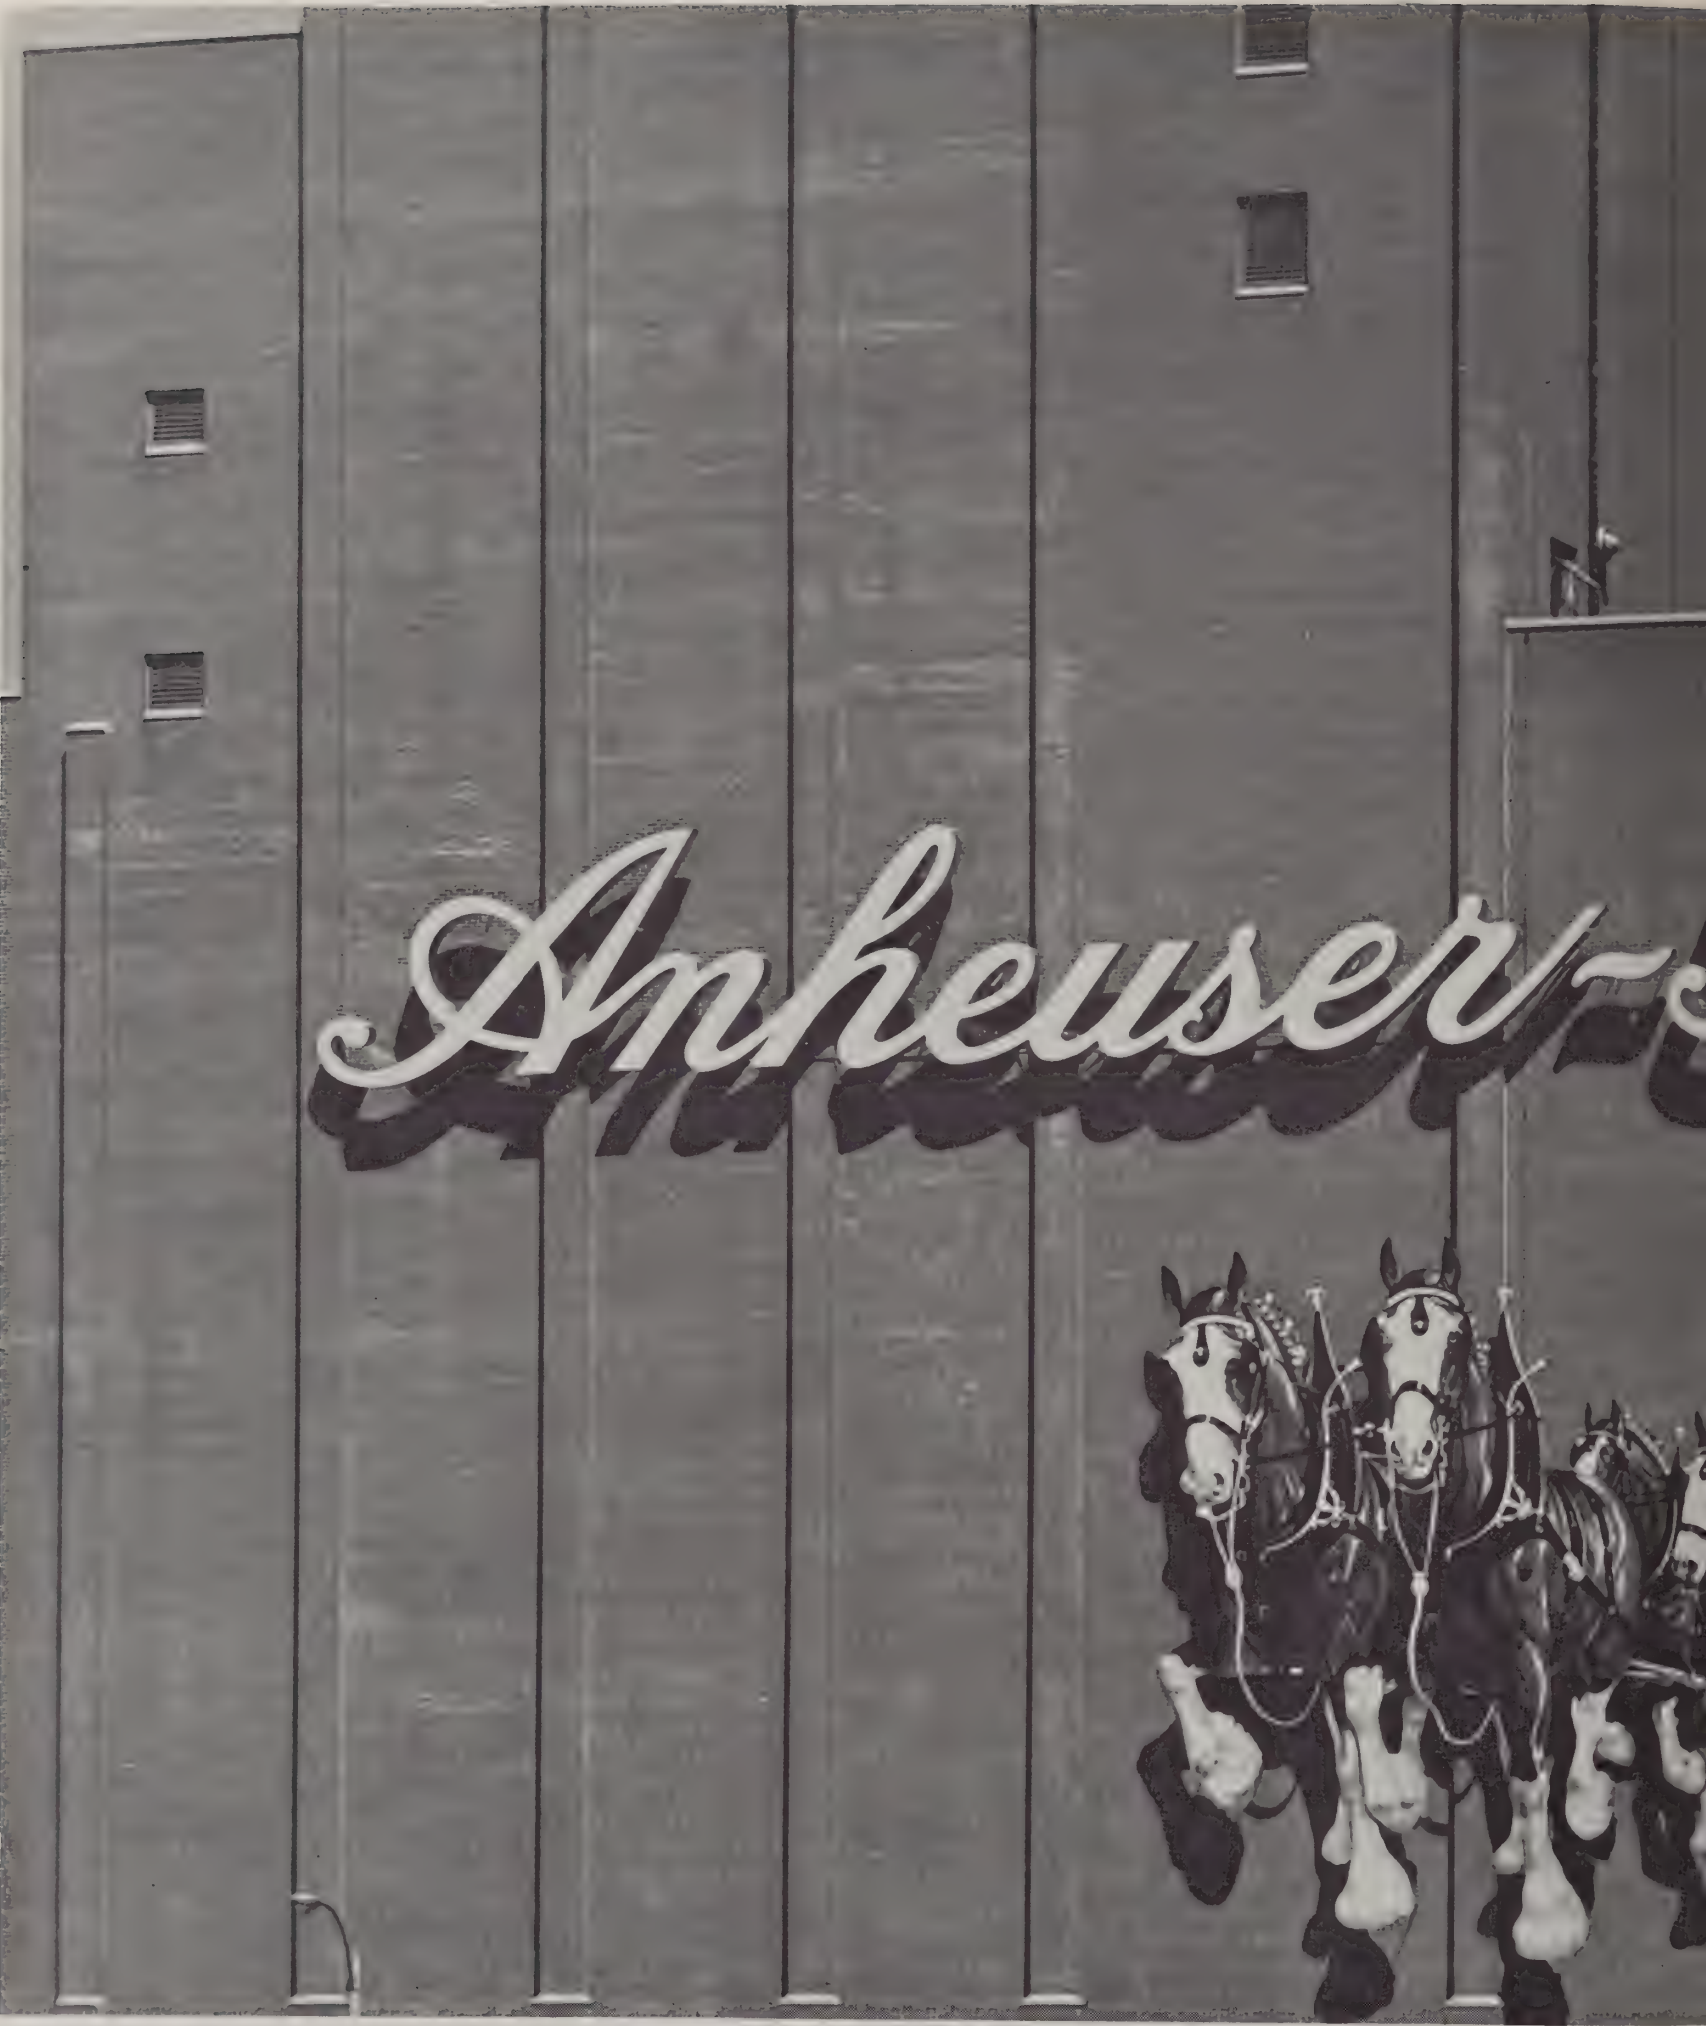

Many of you have expressed an interest in the so-called "commercial" or "wagon" horse that is featured in many Ontario shows. This is generally a Hackney-Draft cross. The lead team in this photo, taken at a recent Plattsville, Ontario Horse Show, is such a cross. The hitch is being driven by Cecil Wells, Paris, Ont. accompanied by O. A. Bannerman, Monkton, Ont. (This photo from 1964)

The second prize six horse hitch. The Percherons of Orville Bestard, Thorndale, Ont.

The Belgian Six Horse hitch of Cecil Wells, Paris, Ont. The Champion Four Horse hitch (all breeds) came out of this group

A black and white photograph of a building facade with vertical wooden siding. The Anheuser-Busch logo is prominently displayed in the center, featuring the word 'Anheuser' in a large, white, cursive script with a dark shadow. Below it, the word 'BUSCH' is partially visible in a similar style. In the bottom right corner, there is a detailed illustration of a team of four draft horses pulling a carriage, rendered in a classic, somewhat stylized manner. The horses are dark-colored with white markings on their faces and legs.

KLAWOWYA TILLICUM

by Ed Henken
Box 88, Lynden, Washington

Our Washington Association's second annual draft horse picnic was held at the Willard Wilder farm at Custer on July 18. A beautiful day brought out over 80 heavy horse enthusiasts for a day of picnicing and games. Allen Bates of Ladner, B.C. was the official judge for the judging competition which saw Noel Verduin of Lynden win the men's judging class after a three way tie was broken between him and Robt. Van Mersbergen Sr., and Freddie Polinder. Charla Wilder won the ladies prize, Debbie Polinder the girls, and Randy Witman the boy's competition. Charla Wilder also won the unusual trophy for sweepstakes winner of all classes. After the judging Allen Bates and Dannie Weidkamp demonstrated the use of the "running W" in horse breaking. For a time it appeared that the horse would win, but the men finally triumphed.

Karl and Nettie Bratland of Arlington have gone into Percherons in a big way. They recently purchased the three year old grey stallion Royal Koncarhope from J. S. Porter of Yakima to go with their two black Ralph Fogleman gave us this photo of the R. C. McCroskey Clyde six-up at the 1923 Oregon State Fair. McCroskey was from Garfield, Washington. mares, purchased from Norman Stewart of Ellensburg last year. Royal is a typy grey, sired by Bow-slope Koncarhope and out of Idamere Annett II. The Bratlands also have two yearlings and a foal and plan to show a four-up next year and then advance to a six. They purchased a six of harness from Clifford Fleming of Red Deer, Alberta earlier this year.

The Northwest Washington Fair

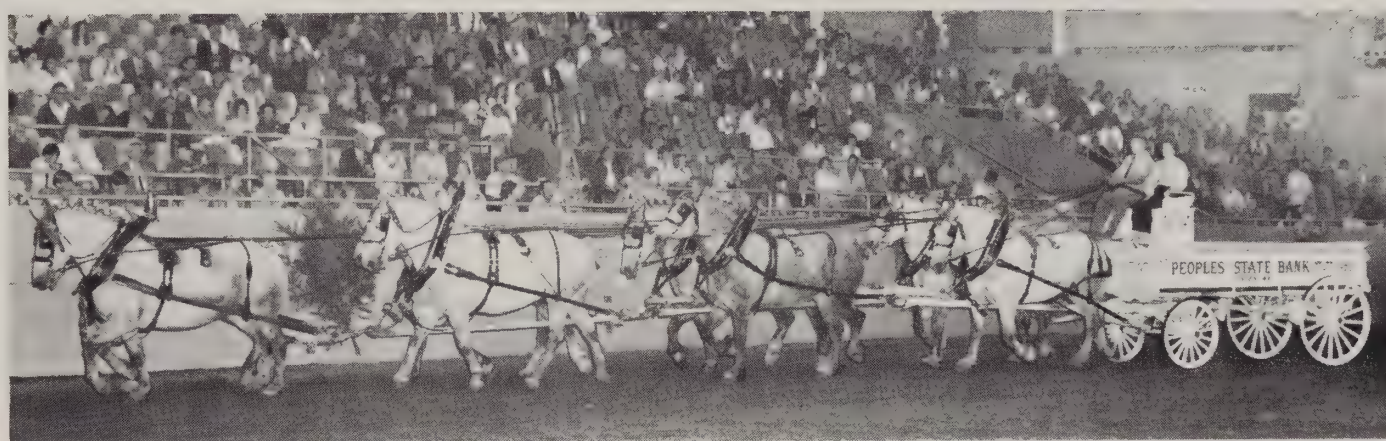

in Lynden continued as the largest draft horse show West of Blackfoot with over seventy entered this year.

The P.N.E. in Vancouver, B.C. had its closest competition in three years, with three of the four contract hitches being in competition for the six horse championship, until the last day. Freddie Polinder won a narrow victory with his Clydes, with the Fred Poole Belgians and Willard Wilder Percherons tied for second.

Quite a number of Washingtonians travelled across Oregon and Idaho to watch Freddie Polinder place the heavy horse classes at Blackfoot. Those making the trip included Mel Anderson and son of Ellensburg, Don Anderson of Monroe, and Mrs. Harold Weidkamp, Dannie and Barbara Weidkamp, Marion and Swede Ausink, and the writer all of Lynden. Blackfoot is the largest heavy horse show west of the midwest with about 125 head exhibited this year.

The Western Washington Fair at Puyallup is considered by most Washingtonians to be our most pleasant show, with outstanding facilities, excellent rapport with the management and this year we even had good weather. This good weather saw the all time record crowd of 1967 topped as 521,000 passed through the turnstiles during the nine day event. This crowd was a big boost to the management as they need to rebuild one million dollars of fire damage. This is a privately owned fair that operates without state assistance. We all show our sixes twice daily during the nine days so by the end of the show all the hitches are going quite well and each driver is getting anxious to see his own from the ground. As a result, the last Saturday nite saw four relief drivers with only one regular up. They all went well during the tight free drive and it is real enjoyable to again see your own hitch from the ground, as well as give others a chance to "hold the ribbons."

After a one year lapse due to mud the Western Washington Fair reinstated its Draft Horse Derby, this year. This race is included on the regular racing program as the last race of the afternoon and was run on the last day of the show this year. They have regular jockeys up and this year saw Cornie Verduin's Belgian "Roscoe" narrowly edge out Anderegg's perennial champion "Bill" for the first time. Henken's big "Prince" had a poor start but was closing the gap fast for third, Guthrie's Belgian "Doc" was a majestic fourth with Polinder's "Pete", handicapped by the clown Happy Kellems instead of a jockey up, a distant fifth. This is a crowd pleasing event which more shows may wish to try.

We were all pleased to have Harold French from Donovan, Sask. and Mel Hughes from Saskatoon spend six weeks in our country helping show the big hitches. We were re-

From Mrs. Linden Bateman, Rt. 1, Box 127, Firth, Idaho: "Horses are a new business for us. Neither my husband nor I were raised on farms. We have a pair of Clyde mares that we use for sleigh rides all winter, as well as many jobs on our acres. We certainly have enjoyed our Clydes."

From the Earl Dence Family, Marieta, New York: "As of a year ago we are the proud owners of three registered black Percherons, bought from Bill Davidson in Ontario. My Palomino gelding thought he was being invaded when we brought them home. Now New York has another proud owner of Percherons."

ANNOUNCING THE SECOND DRAFT HORSE JOURNAL OVERSEAS TOUR

Last spring's draft horse tour of Great Britain was so much fun that we are going to do it again in 1971. The 1971 tour will visit the homelands of four of our five draft breeds; the Percheron, Belgian, Suffolk and Shire.

The tour will leave New York on March 16th, flying to Paris. We will spend five days in France—four days in the Percheron country southwest of Paris and the final day in the French capital.

Thence we will go to Belgium for five more days. Belgium, being a small country, we will be able to return to the same hotel in Brussels every night, making visits to studs and farms in various parts of the country each day.

The final leg of the journey will be a week in the south and midlands of England, culminating in their National Heavy Horse Show at Peterborough, followed by two days in London visiting our friends at the Watney-Mann and Young Breweries.

We will return home on April 3rd.

We really didn't intend to go back this soon but several people have expressed a desire to go—and who knows what tomorrow will bring—so we are going in '71.

The tour, as was last year's will be designed to show you as many heavy horses and to meet as many horsemen as possible. The dates fit between the traditional Cedar Rapids and Waverly Sale dates, which should be welcomed by many of you who also wish to attend these sales.

From a purely personal standpoint, they also should follow lambing and precede foaling, and will fit nicely between the February and May issues for us.

There are a few details to hammer out yet but the general arrangements, as outlined above, are firm. We hope that by the time you receive this issue the package will be completed.

If you are interested in receiving the full details please write us here at the DRAFT HORSE JOURNAL, 1803 Oakland Ave., Cedar Falls, Iowa, 50613, and we'll see that you get the information just as soon as it is available.

MISSOURI NEWS

by Mrs. James M. Barnhart, Butler, Mo.

The Missouri Draft Horse and Mule Breeders' Assoc. held their picnic and annual meeting in Butler. The present officers were elected to serve next year. They are Claude Adams, Lamar, Pres.; Chas. Sheehy, Richards, Vice-Pres.; and James Barnhart, Butler, Sec-Treas.

Robert Baker, Hamilton, Mo. writes of the success of the horse pull held at Hamilton on the opening evening of their annual steam engine show. He reports 15 teams were present from Mo., Kansas and Oregon. The pull was won by Delmar Woolery, Thayer, Kansas and a large crowd turned out for the event.

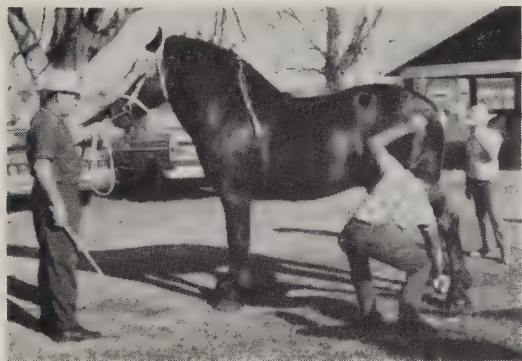

Mr. Baker keeps a stud and 3 mares. He purchased one pair of 3 and 4 year old Belgian mares last fall in South Dakota. He uses them on the farm and participates in a good many parades in the area.

We wish to extend sympathy to the families of Mr. Sam A. Baum, Billing, Mo., who passed away earlier this year and to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Layne, Lamar, Mo., whose only son, Howard, was killed in Vietnam in July.

Congratulations go to Gene Chipman, Perry, who had the World's Champion Mule at the Missouri State Fair and to Glen Leiman, Miller, who had the reserve champion.

Weddings in two Percheron families in the area took place this summer. Beverly Spillman, daughter of the Jack Spillmans', Kincaid, Kans. was married to George Bunnell who farms near Colony, Kans.

A lot of last minute preparation goes into getting a horse ready for the ring. Here is James Barnhart's (from Butler, Mo.) Percheron stallion, Dragon, getting the last minute once over before being paraded at the Missouri State Fair. That's Mr. Barnhart holding the stallion, Keith Rogers, Kansas City wiping off his head, Kenneth Elkins, Holden, Missouri working on the hind feet, and Joe Francis, Lamar, Missouri, in the background, taking it all in.

FOR SALE JACKS & JENNEYS

Elaine Gilliam and David Barnhart were married in August and now live in Odessa.

The British Tour Group, after their visits in Iowa and Illinois, spent a very enjoyable day in St. Louis visiting Grant's Farm and the downtown stables of Anheuser-Busch, Inc. Some of the horsemen weren't ready to leave Grant's Farm at departure time for the rest of the group so they stayed on and were returned to their hotel later by Mr. and Mrs. Berry Farrell. From St. Louis the group went by air to Salt Lake City for their visits with the Utah and Idaho horsemen.

Wilbert Hilgedick, Higginsville, reports that the Heavy Horse Pulling Contest held in Higginsville attracted a large crowd—it was the first held in that area since 1949. Joe Blaine, Erie, Kans. placed first, Chas. McPheeters, Lee's Summitt, Mo., 2nd and Marvin Hall, Red Field,, Kans. 3rd.

Mr. Hilgedick, a retired army sergeant farms with horses. The picture below was taken at a threshing bee at Higginsville. The team shown is a pair of 7yr-old geldings, a Belgian on the left, and half Belgian on the right. Besides this pair, Mr. Hilgedick has two mares with foals, besides a 2yr-old.

A New England farmer got a letter. It stated that the boundary lines of all the farms in the area had been surveyed and it added that his farm was not in Vermont, as he had believed—but was actually in New Hampshire.

The farmer didn't seem very upset "Thank goodness," he sighed. "Another one of those Vermont winters and it would have been all over for me."

THE HORSES OF BELL TELEPHONE

Mr. Philip Weber, 1033 Mozina Drive, Cleveland, Ohio 44119 is, as many of you know, an avid collector of draft horse photos. He has been most generous in sharing them with our readers. Following is a portion of a letter from Mr. R. H. Spencer, Historian for the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, 1050 Beaver Hall Hill, Montreal 1, Quebec to Mr. Weber and a photo from the Bell Company of Canada. Mr. Spencer's comments follow:

"Horses played a major role in the extension of the telephone network from village to town to city and, during the construction of the first transcontinental line, struggled over mountainous paths, across streams, and suffered from the salty desert air. When the line which crossed thirteen states was opened in January 1915, they were not present, however, to share the honours at the inauguration ceremonies". (That figures, somebody in the advertising department was probably thinking ahead to direct dial and worried about having a horse'n buggy image!)

Back to Mr. Spencer: "In the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, in the early days, horses were often rented from livery stables and were boarded at stables near the job at 15 cents per meal and 15 cents per stall."

Prices have advanced somewhat. Here is that picture.

Bill Reid's telephone construction gang at Clifford, Ontario, probably about 1910.

SHOOTIN' THE BREEZE IN MICHIGAN

by Ruth Clark, Howell, Michigan

Michigan was well represented at the Waterloo Show with Creyts' Belgians, Castagnasso's Clydesdales, and Meadow Brook Belgians, as well as several spectators from our state. It was Meadow Brook's first appearance at Waterloo in 13 years. I didn't get to go, but upon his return Harold said "Maurice Telleen has certainly done a lot of work for that show, and he and his personnel really go all out to help the exhibitor, more than at any show we go to." He was real impressed with the improvements made in the grounds and buildings, and the whole show in general.

Arthur Tazelaar of Kalamazoo sent on a clipping from the Kalamazoo Gazette about another show, here in Michigan, where draft horse enthusiasm also runs high, the Allegan Co. Fair. There were some 30 teams at the fair this year and, according to the paper, they got more attention from fair goers than the 400 trotters and pacers on the grounds waiting for a chance at $40,000 in racing purses.

The Allegan County Draft Horse Club now numbers 22 families and the county fair is a season highlight. In addition to the competition amongst themselves the club members play a major role in the parades held in conjunction with the fair. Floyd Beldon has an antique funeral carriage to which he has devoted hundreds of hours in restoring. The Calvin Browns pull a beautifully restored 1891 fire engine with their four black Clydes, and Charles Brown spent most of last winter building and decorating a reproduction of a brewery wagon.

Allegan County must be Michigan's answer to the Lynden, Washington area where another great concentration of horse people reside. Let's hope that the years ahead see more and more communities like this.

We have received word of the death in October of two well known Michigan draft horse people; Mrs. Gladys Read, Richland and Mr. Robert Langley, Flint. Mrs. Read was the widow of the late Sherman Read, well known Percheron breeder and showman, and Mr. Langley was a prominent horse puller in the 20' and 30's. One team of Bel-

We welcome Dale McMain and his wife Shari and little daughter Michel to Michigan. He started working for Meadow Brook in September. Dale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McMain, well known Belgian breeders from Iowa. I don't know if he is as full of corn as Iowa, but he is certainly as tall as the corn they grow. We are glad to have him with us.

We recently made a trip to Lindsay, Ontario and purchased some horses and equipment from Keith Hobden. Keith is starting a sale barn at Lindsay and it will be taking up most of his time.

We hope you have all had a good year and wish for you all, Happy Holidays ahead.

Quality is like buying oats, if you want nice clean fresh oats, you must pay a fair price . . .

However, if you can be satisfied with oats that have already been through the horse . . . that comes a little cheaper! !

WESTERN CANADIAN COMMENT

by Bruce Roy, Cayley, Alberta

Another summer is now history, and with it goes one of the most active periods seen by heavy horse breeders in some time. Early in June, Reuben Olson, Sundre, Alta., entered the ranks of the Percheron fraternity, purchasing the good grey mare, Dixie's Jewel. Foaled in 1963, she was bred in the state of Washington. Sired by Prospector, a son of Silver Dawn Konkarno, her dam, Dixie Lynn, is a daughter of Carnation Donne, grandson of Lynnwood Don. Immediately following her arrival in the province, Dixie's Jewel was bred to the promising black horse, Donald Laet.

In July the Calgary Exhibition and Stampede staged an outstanding draught horse show. Spectator interest was high as judge Bill Hughes, Stroud, Ont., did spartan service placing the respective classes. A few sales were transacted during the show, while numerous contacts were made with visiting horsemen from across Canada and the United States. Included in this number were Fred Hampson, Reg. Black, Leonard Kennedy and Frank Rossler.

It was interesting to note the substantial number of foals brought forth in each of the three draught breeds. An excellent exhibit of Clydesdale foals, all sired by Doura Ambassador (Imp), highlighted the "Bonnie Breed." An outstanding class of cavorting youngsters by such noted sires as Justamere Showtime, La Don's Konkarnona Hector, Don Laet and Donald Laet, were paraded within the Percheron ring, while Belgian breeders led out an attractive crop of foals, sired by Fairview Chief and Cora's Jason Lou.

Veteran Clydesdale breeder, Lawrence M. Rye, Edmonton, Alta., won the coveted interbreed champion gelding honors with a weighty bay Clydesdale. Paraded in splendid fit he moved in a most impressive manner. Donamerr Farms, Markham Ont., provided outstanding competition with a grand going black Percheron. During the judging of this class the air about the ringside was electric. Seldom, if ever, can this writer recall such a keen interest from the gallery.

Donamerr Farms, Markham, Ont., drove their stylish six of black Percherons to top honors in the hitch

OAKDALE'S "FARCEUR BELGIANS"

The kind that do well for others

Here is Farceur's Jasper, the day he won his class of ten 2 yr. old stallions at Waterloo in 1964. He was also Junior and Reserve Grand Champion at Nebraska that same year.

This colt was sold to Lester Phillips, Birmingham, Iowa, where he has made his mark as a sire. Farceur bred stallions have done well for others for over 50 years.

classification. Balanced, on the bit and exhibiting an abundance of style and quality, this impressive unit and its popular young driver, will not soon be forgotten about Calgary!

September brought wedding bells for Tom Umbach, the personable young Director of the Canadian Percheron Association from Alberta. Hitched to Miss Jean Bergeson, Tom is currently attending University in Red Deer. Best wishes are extended to the bridal couple by the draught horse fraternity in Alberta.

October saw the arrival of Geo. Fraser in Alberta. This "grand old man of the Canadian Percheron fraternity" still retains a sharp eye for a good Percheron, and can put most enthusiasts half his age to shame when searching for the desirable and the undesirable in a beast. A native of Semans, Sask., George purchased his foundation stock from the late W. S. Corsa in Illinois. This included the stallion Carinn and the mare Carnona IV, son and daughter of the celebrated Carnot (Imp). Best recalled as the exhibitor of Count Vimy, grand champion Percheron stallion at the initial Royal Winter Fair in 1923, and the breeder of Carnona IV's Hope, dam of the great stallion, Koncarhope, George has judged his chosen breed at the Royal Winter Fair on several occasions. While visiting in Alberta he managed to view the Percherons owned by Wm. Gordon Young, Cayley; Lucasia Farms & Ranches, Vulcan; Glyn Furber, Bowden; and Bruce A. Roy, Cremona.

THIS IS BUCKEYE COUNTRY

by Marilyn Westbrook, Rt. 3, Marengo, O.

It is with deep regret that I report the passing of Bob Viet, Houston, O. Bob was a machinery and livestock dealer as well as a breeder and showman of draft horses. He was a very genuine person with a host of friends in this business and he will be sorely missed in draft horse circles.

Eugene Burger from Hamilton, one of Buckeye Country's leading horse dealers, gets along better with horses than machinery, having suffered a broken leg on Labor Day by falling off a hay wagon. This year (on crutches) Gene "watched" the showing at Delaware County, instead of working.

BUCKEYE— cont'd.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl London, draft horsemen from Mooreville, North Carolina, were interested spectators at the Delaware Fair.

As many of you know "La Don Degas," the good black stallion owned by Monroe Miller was foundered earlier this year. Since then, he has had his ups and downs and we are hoping for the best as this horse has put out a lot of good foals.

Jimmy Robinson, Kevil, Ky. writes that the stud he purchased from us is doing fine. Jimmy was a new exhibitor at this year's National Percheron Show and really brought a lot of enthusiasm to his work. I think we'll be seeing more of him at our Percheron shows.

Bill and I have recently enjoyed visits from Mr. and Mrs. Keith McEwen and family, Alpena, Mich. and Frank Jones, Newark, O. McEwens have both Belgians and Percherons and Frank, better known as "Kelly", has been a top contender for "best driver" or "horsemanship" trophies at pulling contests for a long time. Although not as active as formerly he is still on the lookout for that horse that will pull. When he trains a pair of pullers they stand, with none of this prancing and dancing, until it's time to go to work and then they do their stuff.

Speaking of the home front, Bill has started driving a livestock truck. This, along with a busy hayride schedule, should make for an interesting winter.

One of the country's better known Percheron stallions, Hot Rod, has recently changed hands—but he is still in Ohio. Levi Yoder, Fredericksburg, has sold him to Peter S. Hershberger, Apple Creek.

Since most of this column has been devoted to Percherons I'll balance accounts by closing with a Belgian picture and a reminder. Here is Paul Loyer, one of our good Belgian breeders from Lima out for a sleigh ride with a pair of sorrel beauties.

The reminder is to get yourself to Columbus in February for the first big sale of the 1971 season. There will be plenty of both Belgians and Percherons in the auction.

BOB VEIT ESTATE SALE

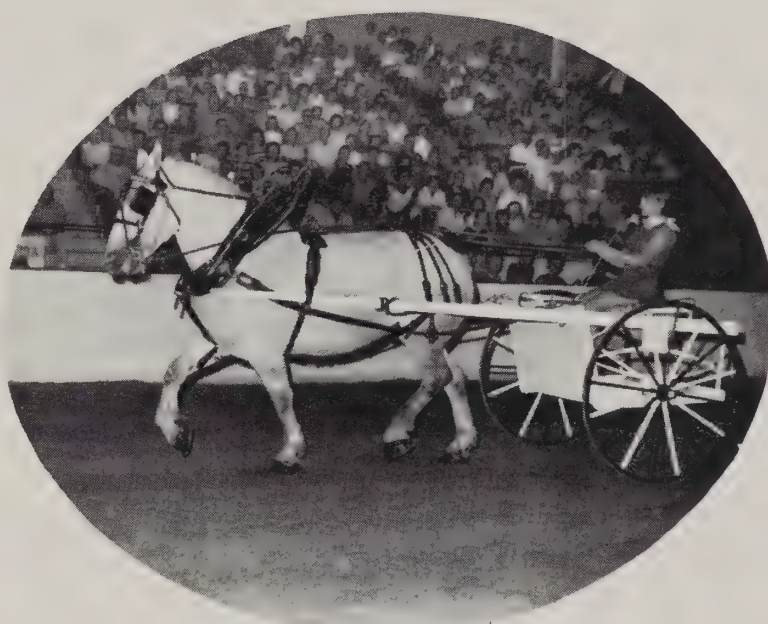

The dispersal sale of the late Bob Veit, Houston, Ohio, was held on October 9th. In addition to a large amount of farm equipment, 12 draft horses were sold at an average of nearly $500 per head—including foals. A 2yr-old black mare, Don's Beauty, topped the sale @ $1000 going to Larry Honsberger, Perrysburg, O. An excellent dark grey 3yr-old gelding @ $700 topped the draft of five head purchased by Mr. Hexom of Iowa.

If this sale is an indication, we can look forward to some good sales next spring.

WESTBROOK FARMS

Kim Westbrook driving Timber's Jocassee Carnot into 2nd place in a class of nine single cart horses at the 1970 Ohio State Fair. Our daughter Kim is 15 and this is her 2nd year driving. "Cassie", owned by Levi A. Hershberger, Dundee, Ohio also placed 2nd in the aged mare class. Kim also drove the 2nd prize pair of registered horses in a class of seven at this great National Percheron Show, and was 1st Junior Showman in her age group, showed the 1st prize Percheron colt in the Junior Show, and was Reserve Champion Junior Showman, both breeds, all ages.

The "old folks" also won a few ribbons at the Ohio and Michigan State Fairs. We were especially pleased to have our stallion, "La Bell's Big Chief" named Grand Champion at both shows.

Due to a change in our operation we will be putting an extra large consignment into the Ohio Spring Sale, including a 3 yr. old gray mare right out of our show string—along with others of equal merit.

PENNSYLVANIA NEWS

by Wm. S. Cruikshank, Valencia, Pa.

The Pennsylvania fairs were well attended and most of them in this district had draft horses, though Ebensburg dropped the classes for heavies. Our Butler Fair had 88 entries with Raymond Honsberger from Ohio as judge. It rained every day so the judging was done between showers. We also had a good pulling contest. The winners of both the show and pull are listed in those result sections of this issue. We were pleased to have Dale Gossett, the Percheron secretary, with us at the show.

Another Pennsylvania fair that had a good turnout of horses was Cochran; mostly Belgians with some Percherons. Pennsylvania horsemen contributed about 3/4ths of the drafters at the big Canfield Fair, just over the line in Ohio.

In addition to the smaller shows it was my privilege to attend the Ohio and Kentucky State Fairs. Ohio was, of course, a great show for both the Belgian and Percheron breeds; Kentucky has mules, jacks, and jennets. Fairs both large and small, are valuable educational tools to those in all walks of life, especially in livestock.

Robert Jones from Pleasantville, N.J. paid us a surprise visit enroute from the Mich. and Wis. State Fairs where he had been exhibiting his gelding, Goliath, as the biggest horse in the world. We turned the gelding out to pasture and had a good visit. Mr. Jones reported good attendance to see the large horse. He also showed him at the Bloomsburg, Pa. Fair and the Eastern States Exposition.

John C. Cadzow, Rt. 3, Sandstone Acres, Latrobe, Pa. with his twin mules born last spring. John also bought a pair of twin mules a couple years ago, giving him two sets of the hybrid twins. He has all his mares bred to a mammoth jack for next spring.

Our annual Horsemen's Banquet in Somerset last spring attracted over 300 people. Moving pictures of the Pennsylvania Horse and Mule Plowing Match were shown. One of the speakers talked about the small farm as the ideal place to raise a family. With the high cost of operating large mechanized farms it appears that horses and mules are one way to make a small place pay.

Allan Smith's three time grand champion Belgian stallion at Harrisburg made the 1970 breeding season in Ohio.

Pennsylvania horsemen are looking forward to the Harrisburg Show which will be held the second week of January. John Taft, well known Percheron breeder from Illinois, will judge the draft horses.

FOR SALE: Perfectly matched sorrel span of 38" five-year-old miniature Draft Mules. Gentle. Priced reasonable. Perfectly matched 42", well broke, sorrel, light manes and tails six pony hitch. With fancy inlaid wood wagon, fancy harness, carryall horse trailer, and stagecoach. Priced reasonable, but firm.

PUREBRED PERCHERONS — THE MODERN KIND

We showed at the Washington County Fair, the Wisconsin State Fair, and the Minnesota State Fair this year. Our horses accounted for 17 firsts, 15 seconds, and 13 championships.

Enchantress and Rocambole were Grand and Reserve Champion at Washington County respectively. Laurelyn was Grand Champion at both Wis. and Minn., best of breed at Wis., and winner of the Tri-State trophy for best 2 year old at both Minn. & Wis. All three of these mares are by Drake Farms Chief.

A son of LaDonald, RHB Chief was Reserve Grand for us at Wisconsin.

Markley Flack, Rushland, Pa. sends this photo of his horses on the grain binder. He is especially fond of this team of Spotted Moroccos, which came from Minn. He says they are the best general purpose horses he has ever owned. He planted 60 acres of corn and beans, mowed and raked all his hay, raked his straw, and cut 5 acres of wheat with his two teams. He also uses them for hayrides and parades in the Bucks County area.

ILLINOIS NEWS

by Mayme Kelly, Shumway, Illinois

As I write this column fall temperatures are with us and harvesting is in full swing. Crops are not quite as good as last year with considerable corn blight damage in some localities.

Horse pulling seems to be getting stronger in Illinois right along. We had a very good one here at the Moultrie-Douglas Co. Fair (see pulling results) in Arthur. There were 14 teams in competition. The Central Illinois Horse Auction presented a Sportsmanship Trophy which was won by Mr. Short Newman, Martinsville, Ill.

The Whiteside County Fair in Morrison really had a barn full this year with McMain, Hauck, Simpson, Ropp, and Heck showing. It was the Centennial celebration for Whiteside County. Lawrence Yung, Alexis served as judge.

Another very successful affair was the Centennial at Alexis. This celebration featured a show of Clydesdales, a horse pull, and threshing. Dale Longley and Lawrence Yung, Alexis horsemen, put a lot of work and planning into this one.

John Taft, Mechanicsburg, reports that one of the yearling stallions advertised in the last issue has been sold to a party in New York.

Following the Waterloo Show, Aubrey and Marie Toll from Ontario delivered a young pair of Clyde geldings to Floyd Conger, Pecatonica. You can bet that Floyd and Jim Groves will have them fit and ready come the 1971 shows.

The group of draft horsemen and their ladies from England got a good look at Illinois. Following the Waterloo Show they made four farm visits in our state, en route to St. Louis. They visited the farms of J. Miles McGrew (Belgians) near Walnut Grove and John Taft near Mechanicsburg (Percherons).

Lawrence Yung and the McGrews accompanied the English group from St. Louis to St. Paul, spending a very enjoyable week with the horsemen of Utah and Idaho.

A man was talking to a psychiatrist about his brother. "My brother acts like a hen," he commented.

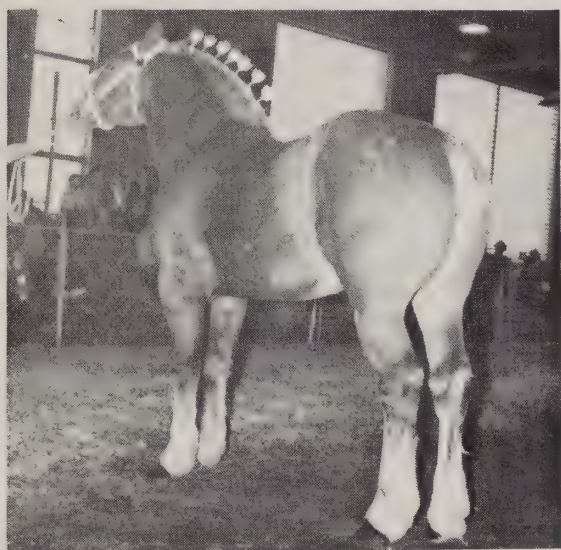

"How long has he been acting this way?" inquired the psychiatrist.

"For a year," stated the brother.

"Why didn't you come to me sooner?" the psychiatrist asked.

"We needed the eggs," the man explained.

WISCONSIN NEWS

by Mrs. George Rietz, Athens, Wis.

Autumn came to Wisconsin in a blaze of color and with a bountiful harvest. The show season just ended was certainly the best ever—with more horses and excellent quality. It has been a good draft horse year in Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin State Fair was very strong. The daily parades of hitches, add a lot of color to the fair and certainly help out on expenses for the exhibitors. It was encouraging to see so many young men, such as Eddie Schneckloth, Dan Jones, Rich Lee, the Emmons boys and others handling the lines on these parades. This year the barns literally overflowed—with one tent full of drafters. Rolland Ruby, horse superintendent at Milwaukee, is due for a lot of credit in building a great heavy horse show there. There were 29 exhibitors this year.

The Wisconsin Draft Horse Assoc. held its annual meeting during the fair. Ray Bast was elected president, ElRoy Brass, Vice-Pres., and Janet Brass, Sec.-Treas. Other directors are Floyd Jones, Ray Emmons and Bob Eschrich. There are currently 45 members. It was decided to name a queen from a draft horse member's family to represent the draft horses at next year's state fair, the selection to be made at the summer picnic at Baraboo.

Showing is fun but, apparently, a bit hazardous. Mrs. Ray Bast, Richfield, broke her arm at Minnesota and Earl Prochnow, Athens, broke his leg at the Wisconsin Valley Fair. We wish both a speedy recovery. Earl held his "old fashioned" threshing bee in September and reported a large crowd, in spite of bad weather.

Ray Bast reports the sale of the yearling stallion, RHB Ebony, to Tony Schott, Chokio, Minn. He was Jr. and Res. Grand Champion at Minnesota. He also sold a stud foal, RHB Brigadoon to Johnson Bros., Farmington, Minn.

Vickie Lance, daughter of the Steve Lances, well known pullers from Watertown, helped the Eldred Pierce family show their Belgians at Des Moines and Waterloo. Steve also assisted the Pierces at the Waterloo show.

Mr. V. J. Schrock, Schrock's Harness Supply, Medford, recently shipped a team harness to Earl W. Witzel, E.N.A. Belimde Maris, Pernambuis, Brazil. Mr. Witzel is farm manager at the Northwest Brazil College. The harness was taken to Madison and flown to Brazil.

While on the subject of "International" news, we should mention that the tour group of British horsemen made their last "horse" stop in Wisconsin, spending the day at Floyd Jones farm—just prior to going home with a bit of sight seeing in New York City en route.

Our annual summer picnic was again held at the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cutler at Fort Hall. A good crowd attended and enjoyed themselves very much.

If the Eastern Idaho State Fair is a measuring stick for the heavy horse business, interest must be up about 30%, for that is the per cent of increase the show had this year. There were six new exhibitors in the show and a few Percherons were shown for the first time in several years.

We were real pleased to have trophies from the Belgian, Clyde and Shire Associations and Anheuser-Busch, Inc. These trophies, plus the selection of supreme champions for the first time, added to the already keen competition.

Fred Polinder, Jr. came over from Lynden, Wash. to serve as our judge and managed to work in an exhibition drive with Neal Erickson's six, thus showing his driving ability as well as his judging.

A large number of out of state visitors were present and several horses changed hands during the show. There were buyers from several states. One, out of stater, Mr. Mark Widdis, from northern Montana, became a part of the event—staying several days.

The final gathering of the season was a dinner and driving exhibition in Blackfoot honoring the British Tour Group during their stay in the area. They visited the ranches of Glen Thurston and Clarence Birt in Utah, and following the party in Blackfoot they paid visits to the Alvin Munns' and the Barneys, looked over a large potato operation near Lewisville, and attended a rodeo. Neal Erickson from Lewisville was a big help in setting up this schedule. Following the horse stops in Utah and Idaho the group visited the Grand Tetons and Yellowstone Park where they practically had the park to themselves, with the tourist season being over.

While at the Thurstons, John Martinson, Shire breeder from Yorkshire, England, pounded out a shoe.

Upon leaving he presented Glen with his cap as a memento.

Thurstons have enjoyed a brisk demand for their Clydes. In addition to the young stallion sold to Ed Henken in Washington they have sold two to southern Texas, a pair in the Untiah Basin, and another to the Pacific Coast.

There is a competition on photographs having to do with the fair at Blackfoot. Here is this year's winner taken by Rex Coles, 1033 So. Sunset Ave., Blackfoot, Idaho. It shows Henry Harris, his wife, and their son as they were lining up for a parade downtown. Randy, the near horse and Reserve Champion Shire gelding got a bit nervous. Duke, the off horse was Reserve Champion Shire stallion.

MORE IMPORTS ARRIVE

Five more draft horses from England have arrived in the United States.

Sue Wilson, Lincoln Center, Me., has imported three registered Shires; a 3yr-old stallion and a 2yr-old filly from the John Martinson stud and a 3yr-old mare from the J. B. Cooke stud. All three of these horses are bays.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Koltz, Greenleaf, Wisconsin, have imported two Percherons; a 2yr-old black stallion and a 3yr-old grey mare from the Sneath stud.

These imports, in addition to those mentioned in previous issues, brings the total of English bred imports into the U.S. during 1970 to 14, as near as we can determine.

SASKATCHEWAN NEWS

by Glenn Osborn, Weyburn, Sask.

The Sask. Draft Horse Club's second annual field day was another success. Cool rainy weather kept some at home but those who attended were mostly all active, interested horsemen. A big "thank you" goes out to the denBroks of Esterhazy for hosting the field day and presenting their horses for judging classes. Also a special thanks to Joe Shopland and Les Lee (neighbors of the den Broks) for bringing over some Clydes and Percherons) to make the day an all breed affair.

145 head of draft horses headlined the Virden, Manitoba, Exhibition this year. It was a special show to honor Manitoba's 100th year of confederation and attracted drafters from Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Ken Horn and Ken and Don Brown of Lenore are to be commended for their untiring efforts to keep the show running smoothly. A full line of breeding classes was the feature of the show, and the success of it should be a guide line for other shows, in that you can't have just hitches and make a success of it. The classes were well filled throughout the show and this writer found it a real treat to have all the breeders together again.

The Saskatoon Ex. added a new wrinkle to their show this year that boosted their attendance, in a year when inflation seems to be keeping a lot of people at home. They added the pioneer theme to the show with the addition of Pionera (another Saskatoon show that relives the past with displays of working pioneer machinery.) Steam threshing and the sawing of lumber are two of the main operations in which draft horses play a big role. Charlie Elliot of Paddockwood and Mel Hughes of Saskatoon supplied and drove most of the horsepower in the show and Fred Major of Tessier kept things rolling as Chairman of the Horse Circle. The whole show had a new look and a new name—SASKATCHIMO (Chimo being the local Indian word for happy or good time).

A little added fun took place for us this fall when the local Chamber of Commerce sponsored a two part Harvest Festival to kick off the fall Friday night shopping. We were asked to bring 4 horses in and binder about 8 acres of barley for a stooking contest and then follow it up 2 weeks later by threshing it with an antique steam separator. The whole affair was a tremendous success and is to become an annual event. The Sask. Minister of Agriculture, the Hon. Doug. McFarland, was on hand to throw in the first sheaf.

Recent visitors included the Paul McGinns from Chester Basin, Nova Scotia, who, after having a swing through Sask. and Alberta reported they were unable to find too many

Also we were pleased to have Jim and Barbara Finnie of Nairn, Scotland, come out to see our Belgians. They hadn't seen Belgians before and seemed impressed with their body thickness but remarked that they could use more white legs.

One of the sales of note this summer was the sale by Allen Bexson of the drafty Percheron mare, Foremark Jessie, to Harry Aneca of Was-kada, Man. A weighty mare standing on a wonderful set of legs, she was promptly made Gr. Champ. Percheron mare and Res. Champ. mare of all breeds at the Virden Exhibition for her new owner.

We have had a rainy September and late frost so that harvesting is later and slower than normal. Some corn blight along with a dry July will reduce corn yields somewhat.

John Dacken, Des Moines, was honored at the Iowa State Fair for his many years as official farrier. His picture was hung in the Horsemen's Hall of Fame in the Horse Superintendent's office.

Rupert Linn, Pilot Mound, recently sold 4 Belgian fillies, yearlings and 2yr-olds to Temple Estes, Adrain, Mo. Mr. Linn has purchased a pair of blonde 2yr-old mares from Freeman Detweiler, Sr., Hazleton.

Cecil Milbach, Walker, recently sold 3 Belgian geldings and a filly to Herman Wedel, Fairmont, Minn.

Mrs. Bert Fevold of Humboldt passed away in early August. Bert has been one of Iowa's well known Belgian hitch exhibitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Willey, Vincent were killed in an auto accident in August. Elmer showed Belgians up till World War II.

Lester Good, Ogden, is recuperating at home now after a stay in the hospital during the show season.

MINNESOTA & DAKOTA NEWS

The Minnesota Plowing Match at Pine City, Minn. had to be postponed for one week due to wet weather, this also delayed Gordon Fickett's column and both missed our November deadline. We will have the results of the plowing match and Gordon's Minnesota News in February.

We understand that the Clarence Nordstrom's of Pine City wound up with 26 guests who hadn't heard that the contest had been postponed. With true draft horse hospitality, Clarence hitched his horses and Mrs. Nordstrom rounded up dinner for everyone.

In the meantime, here is what we have gathered in the way of "north country news."

We attended the draft horse show at the Meeker County Fair in Litchfield in August. There were about 80 heavy horses at this county fair from Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin and Manitoba. The draft horses alternate, every other year, with the lightlegs at this fair and according to Myron Christenson, the heavies draw a much larger crowd in their year. Myron, from Litchfield, is the man responsible for the big turnout of horses.

Elmer Jones, Le Seuer, Minn. won both Belgian championships. Art Eller, Pierz, Minn. had the champion Percheron stallion and Lloyd Hanson, Owatonna, Minn., the champion mare. The Stalheims from Amery, Wis. had the only Clydes at the show and Foster Sarchett, Indianola, Iowa was the heaviest winner in geldings and hitches.

Other winners were Dolan Witt, Dodge Center, Minn. in Percherons; Vander Wert & Thiesse, Fairmont, Minn., John Groothuis, Clara City, Minn.; Howard Behm, Atwater, Minn. and Bob Murphy, Killarney, Man. Mrs. Groothuis won the showmanship award.

A good many of these horses headed for the show at Albert Lea following Litchfield. Minnesota has a good series of county fair draft horse shows leading up to their big one at St. Paul.

The South Dakota State Fair in

Huron has not offered draft horse competition for several years but did have 10 Belgians owned by Walter Schaefer McCrossan Boy's Ranch, Sioux Falls, S. Dak. and 2 mules owned by Cecil Polak, Tulare, S. Dak. on exhibit.

It will soon be the season for sleigh bells, fur coats, cutters and bobsleds to come out of storage in Minnesota. Pictured below are a couple of scenes from a Sunday outing last February in the Pleasant Grove Township near Rochester, Minn. Lee Christensen from Rochester sent us this clipping from the Rochester Post-Bulletin.

In the photo on the left, Henry Nolte, on whose farm the 6 mile trip began, puts a string of sleigh bells on his Quarter Horse.

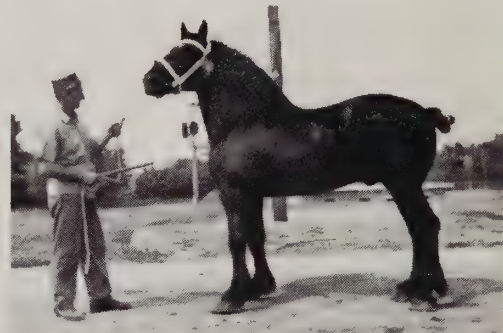

At the right, leading the line of horse-drawn units is Vernon Hebig of Rochester whose team consists of a draft horse he got in exchange for an unpaid board bill and a Quarter horse brood mare he works with the draft horse.

SHIRE AND SUFFOLK NEWS

by Ed Henken, Sec. Shire & Suffolk Horse Assn.

With the Third Annual modern day National Shire Show being held in Blackfoot during September (complete results shown elsewhere) most of this column will be devoted to the Shire . . . this was undoubtedly the strongest show to date, with 22 registered Shires exhibited in the purebred classes and over 25 in the grade classes. We have been able to bring up the papers on quite a few Shires. Both the Grand and Reserve Shire mares being unregistered until this year. Leland Barney and Arlin Wareing, both Association officers deserve much credit for their yoeman's effort in tracing pedigrees on many of the Shires in the mountain area.

In the stallion class, the Wareing owned 4 yr. old import, Jim's Chieftain, went Grand Champion, with Henry Harris' 11 yr old horse Duke going Reserve. Jim is a tremendous moving horse with lovely feather of the right kind and caught everyones eye in the showring.

The light bay mare, Rose Babe owned by Wells Barney, of Roberts, Idaho was Grand Shire Mare with Lynn Morgan's black Kit mare reserve. The 11 year old Babe mare went on to be named Supreme Mare of the show over the outstanding Clyde and Belgian mares. This is all the more remarkable when it is considered that Babe and her brother placed second in the heavy-weight pulling contest at Blackfoot only two nights before. It is very rare to see a horse capable in both pulling and showing and winning at both against stiff competition. This Shire team, was outpulled by a team of grades that had them outweighed a good 500 pounds and was defeated by only a few feet on a pull of 7000 pounds on the sled in heavy going. Mr. Barney was considering a high offer for this team, made by some Kansas pullers out to observe the contest, but after his mares' show win he turned the offer down and now plans to breed this good mare to the Wareing horse.

There were a number of Shire sales during the show, including Don Anderson of Monroe, Washington purchasing the first place stud foal from Fred Stewart of Jerome, Idaho. This colt is a 6 months old son of Jim's Chieftain and out of a big mare that is a grand daughter of Elmdale Lad, former Chicago International Grand Champion. This colt proved to be an excellent traveller as Don and the writer built racks on our pickup and took him 800 miles home with us. Robin Oxie of Aurora, Illinois was in attendance and purchased Merrill Morgan's 5 year old stallion Juneau King. Robin also purchased the two Stewart mares advertised in the last Journal, just beating Mel Anderson by one day to them. These mares are full sisters, being grand daughters of Elmdale Lad.

On our return Don Anderson and the writer had an opportunity to visit Ed Hansen of White Swan, Washington a Shire breeder as well as Jake Shattuck, a former breeder of Toppenish. Information gathered should allow another dozen mares to become registered with permanent papers.

Will appreciate any and all news from you Suffolk and Shire breeders; and lets get more of our Suffolks exhibited and presented before the public. The interest is there, lets meet the demand.

HORSES AND CHILDREN A GREAT COMBINATION

One of the questions frequently asked, by the uninitiated, at our big spring sales is "Where do all the buyers come from and what do they do with the horses?" Following is the story of where one of the buyers came from at this spring's Waverly Sale and what he is doing with the team he bought.

Norman Stamp has been a farm implement dealer in Longmont, Colorado for 21 years. He is also president of the Colorado Assoc. for Children with Learning Disabilities and a board member of the Innsmont Center for Children. The center was founded about 5 years ago to provide special classes and instruction for youngsters who have encountered learning disabilities. The goal of the center is to give these children two years of individual instruction. At the end of that period they are ready to return to their respective class in public school and resume their education on an equal footing with their contemporaries. Enrollment has been limited to 42 children with a ratio of seven students per teacher. It is hoped that with enlarged facilities this soon can be raised to about 75 students. And it is here where the team of black Clydes purchased in Waverly this spring fit into the picture.

They were used this past summer to pull a stagecoach (one originally used in the movie, "Stagecoach") to publicize the school and help in the fund raising necessary for the expansion.

The present student body has already enjoyed a ride in the coach as part of a wonderful day in May they spent on Mr. Stamp's livestock ranch near Hygiene, Colorado, just west of Lake McCall. Add a private trout pond, a picnic lunch, and the matchless beauty of the Rockies to the picture and you can appreciate how much the kids enjoyed their day with the Clydesdales.

The team was purchased for Mr. Stamp by their friend Al Grothe of Wellington, Colorado. This was the pair that Ed Claussen from Gladbrook, Iowa sent up to Waverly with his son-in-law, Harry Thoms while he and Mrs. Claussen were with us on tour in Great Britain.

Mr. Stamp has this to say about the team: "The way they work, perform, and their gentleness around children are a tribute to Mr. Claussen. His word, his representation shall long be remembered to us as those of a great horseman, a gentleman of honesty and integrity."

And those of us who know the Claussens and the Thoms can only add, "That's just the way we would expect it to be."

If there are those among you who would like to know more about the unique program at the Innsmont Center, we are sure that Mr. Stamp would oblige you. His address is Mr. Norman Stamp, P.O. Box 717, Longmont, Colorado 80501

A BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE COMMON UNSOUNDNESSES OF DRAFT HORSES

(From Michigan State University Bulletin "Guides for Horse Buyers".)

DEFECTIVE EYES

The eyes should be examined very closely with a flashlight in a darkened stall, or by standing the horse in an open doorway. Cataracts and cloudiness of the cornea usually are easily detected. Other defects are not so easily observed, but the general expression of the head, with unnatural carriage of the ears, may indicate poor eyesight. The horse that is partially blind usually shies at objects, keeps his ears constantly moving, and stumbles frequently.

A pale blue or cloudy, watery eye is characteristic of periodic ophthalmia or "moon blindness." Since the eye may appear quite normal after recovery from the first few attacks, an examination of the interior of the eye by a veterinarian is necessary to determine if the horse is suffering from this disease. Repeated attacks usually produce permanent blindness.

("Many different medical treatments have been tried over the years, including heavy vitamin injections, etc. There seems to be some evidence that leptospirosis may be incriminated and some have vaccinated for this condition and thought they got results." E. D. Richards, DVM, Salisbury, N.C.)

POLL EVIL

This is a fistula of the poll and usually follows a severe bruise of the poll or constant irritation produced by a tightly fitting halter or bridle. This condition must always be regarded as serious. Many cases of poll evil can be cured; the treatment, however, in most cases must be continued for many weeks under the direction of a veterinarian. Permanent scars are sometimes left as a result of the disease, and the horse may become "touchy" about the head and ears, making it difficult to halter or bridle him.

FISTULA OF THE WITHERS

This usually follows a sore on the neck caused by a collar that does not fit properly. The fistula first appears as a large, hot, painful, fluctuating swelling upon the withers, which finally ruptures, permitting pus to escape. Some fistulas heal, leaving a large, fibrous tumor but most of them continue to discharge pus indefinitely and show no tendency to heal. A large percentage of these cases may be successfully treated and cured by a veterinarian. The treatment, however, as in poll evil, often has to be continued for many weeks. In cases where a surgical operation is necessary, permanent scars may be left. ("The treatment for poll evil and fistula of the withers is radical surgery. About the only places qualified to do this these days are the colleges of veterinary medicine. They take them for teaching purposes and usually keep them in the hospital for quite a few weeks." E. D. Richards, DVM, Salisbury, N. C.)

SWEENEY

A sweeney is an atrophy or decrease in size of a single muscle or a group of muscles. The term is commonly applied to the extreme atrophy of the shoulder muscle. It is usually caused by a blow, ill-fitting collar or severe strain. Sweeney of the hip may follow difficulty in foaling or an attack of azoturia. Some cases of sweeney recover after a few month's rest. Blisters and subcutaneous irritants applied under the direction of a veterinarian may hasten recovery.

CAPPED ELBOW OR SHOE BOIL

This is a swelling at the point of the elbow usually caused by constant irritation of the heel or shoe upon the point of the elbow when the horse lies with the front leg flexed underneath the body. Recovery usually follows proper treatment.

("The treatment for capped elbows is by draining soon after they occur. After draining they are injected with a mixture of cortisone and antibiotics and they usually respond well. The treatment for bog spavin is the same but is not as successful." E. D. Richards, DVM, Salisbury, N. C.)

SPLINT

This is a bony enlargement usually found on the inside of the upper part of the front cannon bone of young horses. It may occasionally occur on the outside of the front cannon bone but is rarely seen on the rear cannon. Splints usually follow kicks, over-exertion or concussions produced by working on hard surfaces. The bony growth may result from irritation between the large cannon bone and small splint bone. Splints are easily seen if one stands directly in front of the horse and observes the outline of the cannon. Splints are very common blemishes of draft horses. Aside from the slight lameness which rarely occurs during the first stages of formation, splints are of little importance. Many horse dealers and judges ignore them almost entirely.

WIND GALL, ROAD GALL, WIND PUFF, OR ROAD PUFF

These are small, puffy swellings which usually occur on each side of the tendons just above the fetlock or knee. Wind galls are much more common in the light legged breeds of horses than in draft horses. They are formed by an excessive secretion of synovia which distends the sheaths surrounding the tendons. Severe strain, over-exertion or infectious disease may be predisposing factors. Wind galls are not often considered serious since they usually disappear and cause no lameness unless pathological changes occur within them.

RINGBONE

This is a bony growth on either or both of the bones of the pastern which may involve the joints. The ringbone may appear as a hard bony swelling on any part of the pastern. It may be so small that it escapes notice or as large as a walnut or even larger. The outlines of right and left pasterns should always be compared in cases of doubt. Small ringbones may be felt by carefully passing the hand over the pastern. Lameness usually develops gradually but may appear suddenly after severe strain. The lameness produced may not be proportionate to the size of the growth, since a small ringbone may sometimes produce a more serious lameness than a larger one. The location of the swelling is of most importance. Ringbone at the front or rear of the pastern usually produces severe lameness because it interferes with the free movement of the tendons. Ringbone on either side of the pastern is usually less serious. Severe chronic lameness always results if the joints become involved. There is no treatment known which will remove the bony enlargement, but firing or blistering may cause the bones of the diseased joints to grow together, thus relieving the pain. Nerving is occasionally performed as a last resort.

CONTRACTED TENDONS, COCKED ANKLE OR KNUCKLING

This is a partial dislocation of the fetlock or pastern joint produced by the shortening of the tendons at the back part of the cannon. The tendons may contract as a result of over-exertion, founder, or a local inflammation of the tendons. Knuckling must always be regarded as serious, although some cases may be cured by surgery. Colts usually have a better chance for recovery, than mature horses.

INDIANA NEWS

by Ralph Coddington, 3615 So. Rural, Indianapolis, Ind.

One of my greatest regrets at this writing is to tell you that we were unable to work anything out with the Indiana State Fair Board so that a Draft Horse Show could be held. With the exorbitant fees established by the Board for the Horse Department, the exhibitors had no incentive to enter their horses.

I wrote a letter to the Editor of the Indianapolis Star-News explaining why there would be no draft horses at the State Fair. I received letters, phone calls, and personal comments from many people thanking me for taking time to write to the newspaper.

I would like for all of you who will to send a letter to the Indiana State Fair Board, State Fairgrounds, Indianapolis, Ind. to the attention of Mr. Charles Davis, Secretary, and state your concern about the absence of the draft horses this year at our fair.

The Lions Delaware County Fair at Muncie, Ind., asked for and received permission from Purdue University to have their show recognized as the State Gold Medal Show since there was no show at the State Fair. A large number of colts were shown. Also the Indiana Draft Horse Breeders' Association cooperated with the Muncie Fair in holding a Junior Draft Horse Show with prize money and trophies being provided by both organizations.

Greater interest in draft horses at county fairs in Ohio and Indiana is quite apparent. They have recognized the great crowd appeal of the drafters in halter classes, hitches, and in pulling contests.

At the Greenville, Ohio, show I talked with a long time friend and former draft-horse breeder, Paul Arnold. This day at the fair inspired him so much that at 2 a.m. next morning he wrote a very touching poem. Such is the effect of draft horses and county fairs on people.

Recently we pulled Jim's senior class float at the parade at half-time of the Homecoming football game. Before, during, and after the game a continuous stream of people stopped by to ask all kinds of questions about the horses.

Each September the Wayne Co. Museum in Richmond, Ind. sponsors a Pioneer Day, a highlight of which is the horse drawn vehicles in action. Keith Woodbury pulled a school hack with a team of Belgians and Bill Farmer pulled a Tally-Ho wagon with his Percherons. Admission to the Museum entitled the visitor to a ride in one of the vehicles which proved to be quite popular.

The William Farmer family stopped one evening after attending the circus in Indianapolis at which Bill fulfilled a long time desire to ride an elephant. Now besides his Percherons and a Port Huron steam engine he is looking for a used elephant.

Adrian Buck and Russell Williams were injured in an auto accident while on their way to the Connersville horse show in August. Both were hospitalized but were soon able to be up and about again. And then in September Russell experienced the sudden death of his son, Junior Williams. We would like to extend our sympathy to Russell and his family.

In August Clifford Eller suffered a heart attack. After a period in the hospital, Cliff is at home now and at the time of this writing was watching the corn drier while his son, Lee, was picking.

Frank L. Culp & Sons Original BEER WAGON New 1969

The sharp barking of the Dalmation and the rumble of the wheels on the bricks tells us another wagon-load is coming from the brewery. Let's run to see it!

Who hasn't thrilled to the jangling traces and the thunderous hoof-beats of the magnificent Clydesdales and the bright red wagon piled high with it's load of wooden barrels! This is another of the original cast iron wagon sets conceived, designed and built by Frank L. Culp and Sons. There was never a toy like this one. This is not a new production of an old toy. This is completely new.

These eight beautiful Clydesdales with the massive wagon makes a very colorful and eye catching item of conversation and a focal point of decoration. Brighten your home or place of business with one of these attractive pieces.

34 inches in length packed one to a carton.
Shipping weight 15 pounds.

Price $60.00 prepaid. Send Postal M. O.

Other horse drawn wagon toys in cast iron available. Send $1.25 in coin or check for catalog.

ENGLISH HARVESTING SCENE

Geoff Mortan, one of our new subscribers from Hasholme Carr, Holme-on Spalding Moor, York, England, sends this photo (taken in 1969) of four of his Shire mares on the binder. The near horse in the lead is 22 years old in this picture from last year. She is still working this year. He writes that they have no tractor on their farm, doing all field work with seven Shire mares. They also have a yearling colt and three filly foals at this time. They produce oats, barley, wheat, beans, potatoes, Sugar beets, turnips, and cabbage on this farm.

GOOD MULES FOR SALE

- A pair of red sorrel, white nose, horse mules that stand 17.2 hands and weigh 3400 lbs. They are 4 and 5 years old full brothers, broke the best, and will mature at a ton each.
 - A pair of black, white nose, 3 year olds, standing 16 hands, broke the best and will mature at about 3200 lbs.
- We keep good mules at all times—The bigger, the better.

From Shirley (Mrs. John) M. Mulligan, R.N., Rolling Acres Farm, R.D. 3, Greenwich, New York 12834: "Enclosed is a picture of our two Belgians, Bob and Don, who pulled a float for the School of Practical Nursing of which I am director. This was in the Memorial Day parade last year. Don was 3 years old at the time. We have a dairy farm and use the horses for hauling out the manure in the winter and spring as well as planting corn and seeding oats. The farm would be a very bare place if we didn't have these boys around."

WE WERE WRONG

In the August ad we misspelled Philip H. Huffman's last name. His ad is on page 47 of the August Journal.

We also wrongly reported the selling price on a pair of geldings at the Waverly Spring Sale. We reported the team sold for $1150—or $575 apiece. Actually they brought $1150 apiece. The buyer was John Kriz from Connecticut, the seller was Harold McMaim from Iowa.

Our apologies to all three of you.

A women called the county agent and asked how long her rooster had to be with her 20 hen before the hens' eggs would be fertile.

The agent, planning to look up the answer, said, "Just a minute."

The women replied, "Thank you" and hung up the phone.
